

1. We only get one earth, we need to treat it well
2. It's the right thing to do.
3. I want to have a planet for my children.
4. To live a mindful & responsible life so that my actions don't cause undue harm to others today and in the future. (And I had to look up the answer for #1 as I was unsure!)
5. Keep the world clean and a better place to live for myself, my children and the future
6. To protect Erf
7. So my kids, grandkids, and all kids have an earth to live on someday.
8. To help preserve our planet.
9. For the plastics question, I think it depends where you live (what city). I strive to be sustainable because I feel more grounded and in tune with nature (and my spirit) when I live my life based on understanding of natural systems and valuing the bounty and also limits of natural resources.

The Leaflet's Favorite Responses

1. It's the right thing to do.
2. So my kids, grandkids, and all kids have an earth to live on someday
3. To live a mindful & responsible life so that my actions don't cause undue harm to others today and in the future.