

Hear this GIVEN NAME,

My brother, who's all about BENEFIT showed me your website and PRODUCT.

While looking at it I saw an "open wound" regarding your PROBLEM that could turn into a severe injury and potentially affect your customers - if not healed properly.

Essentially, the "open wound" problem in your WHERE prevents you from having a high conversion rate, resulting in fewer and fewer people buying your PRODUCT as the months go by.

A similar company from my town Zagreb had the same problem and I helped them fix it a few months ago, so I already have a perfect bandage ready for it.

ADVICE

So GIVEN NAME, since I thought it would be more convenient, and I didn't want to bother you with sending an unwanted preview.

I suggest we rather do a quick 10-minute Zoom call so I can further elaborate on how the "bandage" works and how to best apply it to BUSINESS NAME.

Does this Wednesday at 4 PM CET work for you or would you prefer another time?

Kind regards,
Fran

Hear this David,

My brother, who's all about losing weight showed me your website and weight loss gummies.

While looking at it I saw an "open wound" regarding your email welcome sequence that could turn into a severe injury and potentially affect your customers - if not healed properly.

Essentially, the "open wound" problem in your emails prevents you from having a high conversion rate, resulting in fewer and fewer people buying your gummies as the months go by.

A similar company from my town Zagreb had the same problem and I helped them fix it a few months ago, so I already have a perfect bandage ready for it.

The first thing I'd do regarding fixing your problem is to start advertising your confidence coaching on Facebook, so more ideal customers see it and join it.
