

Mold problems go hand in hand with water problems, so when you've got a water leak or flooding that isn't taken care of quickly, mold is usually soon to follow. The smaller the mold problem, the less likely you are to need to hire a mold removal professional in Clearwater, FL. If the mold growth covers an area of more than 10-20 square feet (the size of a bath towel), you should consider calling a mold specialist right away.
