

Once upon a time in a far away land lived a girl named mai she was living with her parents and younger sister in a little cottage in the middle of a small town named tawhai. The town was very mysterious. No one was allowed to leave the town and to make sure there was a big fence with barbed wire at the top. But there was a secret nobody wanted to know except for that girl she would go to the library everyday to find any clue she could get to cracking this secret or code. She had enough of reading and it wasn't getting her anywhere so she decided to do some investigating it first started off at the big fence she walked around the whole fence looking for any clue she could get she was giving all hope until she found a little hole in the fence so she decided to take a little peek before anyone asked her what she was doing.

What she saw was amazing. She had hoped that what she saw out there could change everything that the people in her town had told her she couldn't wait to get home and tell her family about what she had just seen but she really wanted to meet her friends at their hangout in the woods.

No one was aloud in the woods there were signs everywhere but mai and her friends had a treehouse that everyday that would meet each other at and today mai was really excited when everyone got there she was jumping all over the place like she had ants in her pants. Everyone was dying to know why she was so excited so they pinned her to the bean bag and made her tell them "ok guys when i was doing a little investigating about the fence and i found a hole and i might have had a little peek" They were all shocked they made her show them.

So they went to where the hole was and the hole was even bigger like it was slowly chipping away or someone was trying to escape they didn't know but they were keen on stepping out of the fence they didn't say it out loud but the look they all gave each other kind of gave it away so mai said to all of them " guys we may never have another chance at this so go home pack your bags and we will meet back here in an hour ok cause this could change everything.

So they all met back at the hole an hour later there were a few kids that were like we ain't doing this but mai convinced them to come with them so one by one mai was the first one out then everyone was standing on the most beautiful field of grass and other beautiful flowers.

They were preparing themselves for a walk of their life to find some sort of life on their adventure. They definitely weren't aware of what would get in their way. They had walked a long way and they needed a break so they stopped at a little creek on the edge of this little hill where they caught some fish made a fire and had a good night sleep under the stars but it was up to them tomorrow to find some life as they had only saw birds and other small insects and bugs but they were not just looking for animals they were looking for humans, people that could help them and show them something that the town could never.

Days later they haven't come in contact with an human life they were getting a little worried until they were walking through this really scary forest when they came across this really long gravel road they were so happy cause they hadn't seen any sort of thing like this in a very long time so they all walked down the side of the gravel road until they saw a car or anything when came dark they set up camp a little bit more into the forest so they wouldn't get run over or anything like that.

They all woke up at the same time but not at the same place they found there self in the back of a truck they were still half asleep so they didn't really think about it until they started seeing people mai was really happy but then she was a bit scared because she was in the back of someones truck and they knew that they weren't in there town so they must be in another town so they all hopped off at the light when it turned red. They were searching for someone that had been in contact with their town for some reason to tell their family that they were alright. They made their way to a hotel where they could get a few rooms.

They all the next day went out to find any sort of contact with their hometown but that was no use so they all went for another big walk to any other town cause according to the locals there are so many different towns so that was there plan so there were in the middle of this huge of this grass where there were these huge nest so they all went of to the nest to see what it looked like and there were some eggs they were huge and they had these really weird markings on them so mai grabbed one to take back to the town that they had just been in where a big flock of birds started chasing her and her friends.

So it wouldn't take them very long to get back to the town that they were just in but they had to move fast cause they didn't know what was going to happen to them and mai had started thinking of the worst and the worst couldn't get really any bader and trust me u dont want to know so they ran with everything that they had in them. It was going to be very tiring but they made it. The birds were still chasing them but they just ran into a building.

They all stayed in the hotel until the birds had left and that was going to be a while so they camped out in one of the hotel rooms watched a few movies and told stories. Every once and a while someone would go down and check that the birds had left. It took the birds a whole day to leave and when they left they took the next bus to the city where they could get the egg in a safe place. Now their only priority was to see what that egg had inside of it.

So hours later they made it to the city where they met up with a man that studies birds and flyable things and since the birds were following us when we had the egg that seemed like the best option really. Until The scientist called them back they went for a roam through the city as they had never saw anything like it before so they all wanted to get food cause they hadn't had anything to eat in a while so they went to find a shop where they could buy so snacks then they saw a huge park with water so after they all had a snack they went and had a play at the park.

While they were all in the water mai was heading to the toilet when she got a call from the guy with the egg and he said that they would need some more time with the egg so his boss was going to get them a hotel close to the lab so if anything was to happen they were close. The next day they were to head back to the lab and see what they had done but when they got there the guy was really amazed he asked if he could ask us a few questions so we went into this room where there was a camera to record what we were going to say. They were asked where they found and mai and friends don't even know where they are now so how would they know where they have been so that was going to be difficult all they really did was describe what they saw when they found the egg but they weren't going to tell them much cause they could make this even more confusing.

So they went back to the hotel where they were pack their bags and they were to leave the egg with the scientist so if anything good happened so they were to head back to there home town cause god know how there family is feeling so they next day they were to make their journey back home so they all went back to the hotel and they all got ready for bed cause they were to leave quite early in the morning they weren't really excited for what their parents were going to tell them but they just wanted to go home.

It was morning and they all were getting up when all they heard was a huge bang they looked out there window and all they see is the streets the street the only thing they see are the streets like all the buildings are gone and all that goes through their minds are what is going to happen to them like are the birds back and what they will have to do to get out of this mess so they all grab there stuff and ran out of there hotel room down the corridor and out the door and everything was the same all the buildings were still there.

So they started their journey back to there home it was going to be a while so they could tell they were nearly there but something had kept them to a stop the wall the fence it was gone everyone we saw was happy there were cars going into the town and everyone looked brighter and all sorts of ways like the fence disappearing had made everyone better now im having different thoughts about what their parents were going to say and that was good so they went to there front doors were they knocked and someone opened the door and gave them a huge hug and then mai's mum dropped to the floor crying with excitement crying out my baby is home and everything got a lot more bright the sky the people around.

Mai went back up to her room where there was a bird waiting at the window with a note and it said thank you, mai was very confused. She wanted to tell her parents but first she had to meet up with her friend again so she sent out a message to meet in the woods.

She made it at the hutt and everyone else was there with a note saying thank there were all confused and then another bird arrived where they were and it said that was for getting rid of that egg it had a cruise on it and now that you have given it into the scientist guy we would like to reward u with wings and they all looked at eachother like wings really and then all they could she was a big flash of light and then the bird she click your fingers and then they did and wings just appeared on here backs and then the bird said flap and there they were flying in the air

Come back for more and find out what happens next...

Part 2

It had been awhile since they got their wings and they weren't very happy about what had just happened because they were so confused so they decided to tell someone that had been out of the fence so they went to the town council to tell them everything that was out there. Mai didn't just want to tell the council she wanted to tell the secret council they have all power over the town and the council they just look after the people but this knowledge was enough for the secret council.

So they went and told the secret council and told them everything and it didn't go how they thought as soon as they left all the fences were up now one was coming and the woods was back to out of bounds. So they all meet up and decided that the only option to get out of here so it was going to be the first time that they were to use their wings it was going to be a mission so they prepared even more then last time they dug until they found there bags that had everything from last time and they gave them a bit of an update by filling them back up so that they had everything they needed, and mais friend koru had made some communication devices so that we could get a hold of each other fast.

They were all going to meet up the next day but for now they were practising there flying through the woods when they came across and little cabin in the middle of the woods as there hutt was near the entry of the woods so they searched the area to see if they could find anyone or anything nothing was there so they decided to go home and get ready tomorrow so mai went home and went to bed but she couldn't get back to sleep so she just layed down on her bed and just thought about what could go wrong she was really anxious about everything. So they next morning they all meet up at the hutt and they talked for a while and then the sun came up so they made their wings appear and there went mai she was nearly at the top of the fence when she realized that she had to go a lot further up when she saw like a ledge so she had a little break and waited for her friends to make there way up when she got here breathe back she started flying some more until she made her way to the top she had to wait awhile for her friends but only a few of them made it up cause the others were too scared to.

So they made there was down the other side of the fence and when they made it to the ground when they saw the friends that didn't make it up with the others they didn't really notice though so they started walking when mai yelled out why can't we just fly and so everyone was like yea so they all went off when they found there way to a big nest it was kind of like last time when they came across a big chair with graphic pictures all around with words that they didn't understand so mai took the risk of sitting on the big chair she didn't really think much of it so she started reading some of the words and the big ball at the top of the chair started to light up and all mai wanted to do was get out of that chair but it wouldnt let her it was like she couldn't move well get out of the chair.

All her friends started to freak out except for 3 they were just standing there doing nothing and then this is where mai started think was this a big set up and what had happen to her other friends then all of a sudden the rest of her friends started staring at her like something was wrong mai was so confused and then she felt something pulling her out of the chair and all she felt like everyone was really small like they were shrinking but know she was getting bigger and bigger
