

After waiting so long for the story to end
I finally found it out
And now I'm in a panic
I try to hide what I just can't amend

It's like forcefully sticking together all four pieces
And trying to make them all align
It feels like I'm trapped in a vine
Being forced between all of these shapes

I can't say it

I'm so afraid to say it
As if it would fall away
And it would change
Keeping my mouth shut again today

I can't say it

I can never say it
Though all that I want
Is for my heart to be set free!

We were always seeking something that would never change
A flower knot is what we made with the string of fate
But was it all for naught?

Looking for more hope than what we happen to have now
We let chance further tangle up our fates
And became aware of what we really hoped for

There's really nothing that we can do but try and deny
And forget
Don't you think it's about time?

You continue to laugh beside me
So I guess that that means
It's April Fool's day for now
I feel like I'm about to burst from inside

I can't say it

I'm so afraid to just say it
So I keep my mouth shut
Someone set my heart free now!!

Always looking for something that would never change
A flower knot is tied with the string of fate
On the count of three

Looking for more hope than what we have right now
We let chance go and tangle up our fates
Our mistake

Ah

My true heart is still waiting for next spring

After waiting so long for the story to end

I finally found it out
And now I'm in a panic
I try to hide what I just can't amend