

Esperanza Rising: Mid-Unit Assessment

For homework last night, you read Chapter 9: “Las Ciruelas/Plums.” On this assessment, you get a chance to show what you know about how to analyze this novel on your own. You may use your novel and any evidence or notes from this unit for this assessment.

1. This chapter is titled “Las Ciruelas/Plums.” Why do you think Pam Muñoz Ryan chose this title for the chapter? How does this title relate to the main events or ideas in this chapter?
2. Make an inference: What does Esperanza’s response to the challenge on pages 139–143 tell us about her as a person? Cite evidence from the text to support your answer.

Read the following excerpt from page 157, and then answer the questions below:

“Esperanza felt Alfonso behind her, putting his hands on her shoulder. She felt the blood drain from her face. She wanted to tell the doctor that she could not lose Mama, too. That she had already lost Papa and that Abuelita was too far away. Her voice strangled with fear. All she could do was whisper the doctor’s uncertain words ‘If she survives.’”

3. In one sentence, summarize the challenge Esperanza and Mama are facing at this point in the novel.
4. What does it mean to have blood drain from your face?

6. How does the author's use of the words drain and strangled help us understand how Esperanza is feeling?
