Eviction Ceremony

Nattless stands.

I vote to evict Ally. Ally congrats on bronze, I'm sorry that I'm not taking you here, but you really have no idea how close Zee and I have become in the last couple of weeks. I told her I was taking her to f2, and I am not one to go back on that. You've been a loyal and good friend, and I'm so pleased that we got to know one another so well in this game. I'm grateful to you for our friendship and the conversations we have had in this game. It saddens me that people have called you a goat this game, because genuinely if they think that then they cannot see the game you've played. You aren't a goat, and every move you made was calculated. I recognised that from the moment you survived against sirperior. Not only did you survive against the odds, but you also threw the target off yourself, and made sure that the people you wanted gone left. Zeezo, thanks for being so loyal to me, and congrats on either gold or silver. You've been a sound source of support throughout this game, and standing beside you at the end makes me incredibly happy. I adore you and regardless of which way this goes, i'll be forever grateful for our friendship and the chats we have had.

Ally, by a vote of 1-0, you have been evicted.
