Rogaine #3, “Oh, Henry”, August 20th, 2023

Our best course ever? Probably, at least according to a grandma and her 6 year old grandaughter who decided to stick around until the very end for added value in the freezing rain. But seriously–wasn’t the scrub lovely? And the lack of features, the deceptive river, and the self-healing swamp too? Yeah, we whole-heartedly agree! [Note, the course had 20 CPs]

Rogaine #2, “Borland Boredom Buster”, July 23rd, 2023

According to a course setter, this was the most scenic rogaine yet. Participants didn’t disagree. A longer course than the opener with more elevation gains, but some absolutely wicked views, a few stream crossings to keep people honest, and one swamp just because, well, it was there. Besides, aren’t swamps beautiful too–the beholder and all that jazz?

Season Opener, “Marginally Lost”, June 24th, 2023

Probably our biggest event to date, with more than 50 teams in attendance. Epic. Chris Forne came and showed everyone the pointy end, and according to a rumored Danish Study, helped everyone there become better navigators in the process. Good for some motivation, eh?

If there are no results, did it even happen? Did anyone find anything? Do any of us even really exist? In the absence of hard data, it’s time to get philosophical. Sorry folks, these results are lost in the darkness, so to speak.

*was mistakenly told the map was magnetic North, not grid north. Who would do such a thing?

naved at night. Good times.

Scott asked us to record a DNF since he got lost and used his phone. He's too fast for his own good.
