Question Formulation Technique (QFT)

Directions:

In your small groups, write down as many questions as you have about the photograph without stopping to judge or answer the questions. Assign one student from your group to the role of the recorder and ask them to write down every question exactly as stated. Use the following rules to produce your questions.

Rules for Producing Questions

- Ask as many questions as you can.
- Do not stop to discuss, judge, or answer any questions. Write down every question exactly as it is stated.
- Change any statement into a question.
