PHOENIX DEVIL FRUIT

FULL PHOENIX FORM

Kazuo transforms into a phoenix, his entire body engulfed in blue and golden healing flames. In this form he can fly for long periods of time and fights by diving down from the air, using his beak, his wings and his talons to inflict damage upon his enemies. This form is best for scouting and collecting information on Kazuo's various scouting jobs.

FIRST HYBRID FORM: REBIRTH

Kazuo transforms his arms into phoenix wings and his legs into phoenix talons. Using his talons, which are larger than his regular full phoenix form, he can use his sword in this form while flying around with his wings, which are also larger in this form. He has the option of sprouting wings from his back rather than transforming his arms. This form focuses on speed.

SECOND HYBRID FORM: RENEWAL

Kazuo engulfs his entire body in healing flames. He also sprouts a pair of wings from his back in this form, while keeping his arms. By unlocking his full strength and allowing his muscles to go past their normal limits thanks to the healing flames, he greatly increases the force of his attacks.

Normally people have a limit on how much strength their muscles can exert, but by using his healing flames to continuously regenerate his broken tissue, Kazuo is able to go beyond those limits. This form focuses on stamina and strength.

TENRAI TORIJUTSU

After acquiring the Tori Tori no Mi: Model Phoenix, Kazuo developed a new fighting style called Tenrai Torijutsu, or Divine Bird Art. This fighting style makes use of his ability to change into and from a phoenix at will, allowing him to perform devastating combos and powerful attacks by taking advantage of the abilities of a phoenix. He is able to perform aerial attacks, fight with his hands, wings, talons, legs, or even his beak. He also uses of his blue healing flames to keep himself fresh throughout battle, making Kazuo a truly formidable and versatile fighter.
