

Don't Forget Our Plan

Even in times of emergency, we must not be blinded by emotion. To those who have received this transcript, I would like to let you know the following things. Argos is dead, but is his will dead? Is his plan dead? No. He has held our hands until the very end. It is time we grow up and blossom. We have been watered far enough, let us bloom and return order back to its former glory.

Do not be afraid, for I will be with you all until the very end. Even if I die, his plan does not dimmer. Let each death fuel the flames, open your eyes, do not be blinded. Have you forgotten who we are? We are the Eyes of Argos, we are the judges of this dimension, despair does not conquer us, we are stronger than this. Lucculus was a fool. He is a prime example of how you will end up if you are blinded by despair. I will be taking leadership now. I will not fail you all. Believe in me and I shall believe in you.

The plan is just now beginning.
