

@ our library

How is it April already?!?! While the sun is getting warmer and higher, I am realizing that our year is wrapping up. I celebrate that we have had over 12,600 books being checked out from our library this year. Unfortunately quite a few have not been returned...yet. Thank you for supporting your child in finding and returning library books. On my Clever page, there is a video on how to look in the library catalog for checked out books. There are bonuses for using the online catalog: *being able to see the cover of the book, *saving paper and trees, and *supporting our students being in-charge library users. If your student is unsure of their ASD username and password, I can help!

Last day of library book check-out

There comes a time each year that we need to say it is the last day to check out books. This year it is Friday, May 3rd. While this doesn't feel very 'love of library' for me, I do need two weeks to find all of the books that have not been returned...yet. If a student needs to finish a book and is unable to return the book by May 3rd, I will absolutely work with each student on a plan.

Missing a library book?

If a library book is missing and/or needs to be replaced, please use the following guide to help you: Missing a library book plan If, for whatever reason, you are unable to replace a book, please connect with me and we will make a plan. I feel very strongly about the following quote:

"schools ... can make it easy and unrisky for children to take books home ... by worrying less about losing books to children and more about losing children to illiteracy." Richard L. Allington

Someone recently asked me what it is like to be a librarian. My response: best job in the world. I have the privilege of connecting students with books and witnessing their growth up and down our hallway...such joy!

Please connect if there is any way I can support!

Many thanks!
