

Mission

The mission of the Campbell Hall community service program is

- To uphold the principles of social responsibility, community involvement, and thoughtful action
- To help form young adults who possess strong personal values and high self-esteem, and who realize their potential to participate effectively and enthusiastically in a global society
- To prepare our students to deal with the complexities of today's world by acting in their community
- To provide students with opportunities to enhance their sense of responsibility and to experience helping others, exploring new roles, and enriching their lives
- To promote service opportunities in a variety of areas including the environment, youth, those with special needs, health, hunger, and poverty
- To increase Campbell Hall's involvement in the outside community
- To promote and provide structured community service opportunities for students, staff, and faculty
- To foster relationships with not-for-profit organizations and individuals in order to provide opportunities for service to the Campbell Hall students

For the purpose of accomplishing our Community Service Mission, Campbell Hall helps us to

- Know through experience the relationship between empathy and responsibility
- Apply classroom knowledge to real life experiences
- Understand our responsibility as citizens in the larger community
- Accept new challenges
- Acquire life skills
- Develop self-esteem based on a sense of accomplishment
- Develop and articulate a moral center that can fortify a community, a place where values of empathy, compassion, and caring form a basis of civic responsibility
- Realize that by playing a role in contributing to our community, we will help our community thrive, making the community a better and safer place
- Learn that despite the cynicism, indifference, and isolation that exist in our society, when individuals volunteer, they can make a difference
- Discover that while an individual may make a small change, if we volunteer as a community and a school, we can make a huge difference and change the world for the better
