A book review in an academic journal serves as a vital scholarly platform for critically evaluating, analyzing, and contextualizing newly published books in the humanities and social sciences. It provides readers with concise and informed insights into the content, significance, and scholarly contribution of a book, enabling them to determine its relevance to their academic interests and professional needs. Beyond summarizing the book, a high-quality review should critically examine the author's arguments, theoretical frameworks, research methods, strengths, and limitations. In this way, a book review contributes to ongoing academic dialogue and promotes intellectual engagement within the field. Please organize your book review according to the following structure. Do not include section headings in the manuscript.

Leave 1 line (Times New Roman, 10 pt.)

Introduction to the book: Briefly introduce the book by providing essential information such as the title, author(s), publication year, publisher, and the main purpose or theme of the book. You may also discuss the significance or relevance of the book to the field.

Leave 1 line (Times New Roman, 10 pt.)

Chapter-by-chapter summary: Provide a concise summary of the content and key arguments presented in each chapter. The summary should clearly reflect the overall organization and development of the book.

Leave 1 line (Times New Roman, 10 pt.)

Critical Evaluation and Academic Critique: As the core of the review, this section should provide an objective and critical evaluation of the book. Reviewers should assess the author's arguments, theoretical frameworks, and quality of evidence. The discussion should identify the strengths and limitations of the work, compare it with existing literature in the field, and ensure that all critiques are supported by academic reasoning rather than personal opinion. Authors are encouraged to support their analysis with relevant academic references.

Leave 1 line (Times New Roman, 10 pt.)

Conclusion and Target Audience: Summarize your overall assessment of the book and clearly identify its intended readership (e.g., undergraduate students, graduate researchers, academics, practitioners, or policymakers). You may also discuss the book's potential contribution and impact on the field.

REFERENCES

Leave 1 line (Times New Roman, 10 pt.)

Authors must limit the total number of references to a maximum of 30 references (ensure that self-citations do not exceed 5% of all citations). This journal strictly mandates the use of the American Psychological Association (APA 7th Edition: https://apastyle.apa.org/style-grammar-guidelines/references/examples) style for both in-text citations and the reference list. For in-text citation, authors are required to employ the author-date method (e.g., Smith, 2025). The Reference List must provide a comprehensive list of all works cited within the article, arranged primarily in alphabetical order by the author's last name. Critically, the Digital Object Identifier (DOI) should always be included if available for the cited material.

For references published in languages other than English, such as Greek, Chinese, Japanese, and Korean, must include an English translation. The author's name must be included in English, and the title must be translated into English within square brackets [English name]. Additionally, the specific language must be indicated at the end of the reference using the format "[in Language]." And follow this format:

Case 1: The source is in Thai and has an English title.
Example:

Chanwong, S., Lert-ampai, P., & Thianthong, P. (2024). Direction of gastronomy tourism in Phetchaburi. Journal of Humanities and Social Sciences for Sustainable Development, 7(1), 61–74. https://so14.tci-thaijo.org/index.php/VandVJournal/article/view/2382 [in Thai]

Case 2: The source is in Thai and does not have an English title.
Example:

Chitchamnong, D. (2018). หลังม่านวรรณศิลป์ [Behind the Veil of Literary Art] (2nd ed.). Sampachanya Publishing. [in Thai]

Books
Format: Author, A. A. (Year). Title of the book (Edition ed.). Publisher.

APPENDICES (if applicable)

Leave 1 line (Times New Roman, 10 pt.)

The APPENDIX section is used to present supplementary materials that are too detailed to be included in the main body of the article but are essential for understanding or the potential replication of the research.

Formatting Appendices:

Referencing: All appendices must be cited sequentially by number (e.g., Appendix 1, Appendix 2) in the main body text before they appear in the manuscript.

Appendix Caption:

Appendix Title: Use "Appendix [Number]:" (Bold, Times New Roman 10 pt.) followed by the appendix title (Plain text, Sentence case, Times New Roman, 10 pt.). The appendix title must always appear above the appendix.

Example:
Appendix 1: Full Research Questionnaire
