Abstract (12pt, A single paragraph of about 250 words. This section involves purpose, method, results and contribution)

Keywords: keyword 1, keyword 2, keyword 3, keyword 4, keyword 5 (12pt, list five to eight pertinent keywords)

1. Introduction(12pt)

This section involves writing about the problem that exists in reality in the context of the study, the importance of solving the problem, and briefly describing current methods and research findings on problem solving. The purpose of the article, the methodology of the research and describe what each part of the research is about.

It should not exceed 1 page.

2. Literature review (12pt, APA7th)

2.1 Theoretical approach

Authors (time) states it is crucial to delineate the theoretical approach employed in this section, elucidating the theoretical concepts and variables from which the study derives its foundation (authors, time).

2.2 Relevant concepts

2.3 Research hypotheses (option)

2.4 Conceptual model (option)

3. Research methodology (12pt)

This section should encompass the targeted population or targeted data base or other data source, and then, you should uncover the data collection and sampling methods, as well as the data analysis approach.

4. Results(12pt)

This section should provide a concise and precise description of the experimental results, their interpretation, as well as the experimental conclusions that can be drawn.

5. Discussion and Conclusions(12pt)

This section should reiterate the findings of the study and the new knowledge generated.

5.1 Theoretical implications

This section should elucidate how the study's findings advance and refine existing theories, highlighting novel innovations. Comparisons with prior studies should be drawn to underscore the theoretical breakthroughs and the study's scholarly contributions.

5.2 Practical implications

This section aims to identify stakeholders and analyze the implications of the study's findings for each stakeholder group.

5.3 Limitations and future research

Discuss the study's limitations and propose avenues for future research.

5.4 Conclusion

Reiterate the conclusions and summarize the text.

6. New knowledge Contribution

This section should describe the new knowledge generated by this study, such as concepts, frameworks, models, etc. It should demonstrate the new discoveries and expansions in the field of research.

Data Availability (12tp)

The original contributions presented in the study are included in the article, and further inquiries can be directed to the corresponding author/s.: xxxx@gmail.com

Interest Declaration(12tp)

The authors declare no potential conflicts of interest with respect to the research, authorship, and/or publication of this article. The research did not involve any financial, personal, or other relationships with other people or organizations that could inappropriately influence (bias) our work. This submission is an honest, accurate, and transparent account of the study being reported, without any material omissions. Any roles of funding bodies have been clearly delineated; these bodies had no influence over the content of the manuscript.

Funding Acknowledgement
