DAILY ANNOUNCEMENTS – PTSA

Black History Month is an annual celebration of achievements by African Americans and a time for recognizing their central role in U.S. history. Also known as African American History Month, the event grew out of “Negro History Week,” the brainchild of noted historian Carter G. Woodson and other prominent African Americans. Since 1976, every U.S. president has officially designated the month of February as Black History Month.

Today we will celebrate the achievements of: The NAACP

The United States’ largest, most widely recognized, and oldest civil rights organization was established on February 12, 1909. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) is an interracial U.S. organization created to abolish segregation and discrimination in housing, education, employment, voting, and transportation. It was founded to oppose racism and ensure African Americans have their constitutional rights. After 113 years in existence, the grassroots organization currently has two million members.
