Mission of Bioelectronics Engineering Program

Provide students with scientific knowledge and practical experience using advanced technology and methodologies to promote scientific research, innovation and professional excellence, while adhering to ethical values to prepare students to face societal challenges competitively locally and regionally.