EyeBeast Media Sheet

   Every so often, whether it be a request session, contest, or commission, people ask me what kind of things I know enough about to write stories of. To help both myself and everyone that asks this question, below I have compiled a list of franchises that I am willing and knowledgeable enough to write stories about. This is by no means everything I've experienced in life, just franchises I think might come up in my line of work. I will update it on occasion as I experience new things/remember things I've forgotten. If you have any questions about a specific franchise you don't see on the list or have questions about, feel free to ask. That being said, there are a few franchises that I will never touch, which brings us to your first category.

Absolutely Not (Things I will NEVER do stories of for one reason or another)
-Kingdom Hearts
-My Little Pony
-Spyro
-Sonic the Hedgehog
-Real People

Special Notes:
Things I haven't written full stories (not short prompt requests for) about yet will be marked in red.
Things that I would really like to write about are marked in blue.
