

Tree of the Ravenous (cursed)
(from "Islands of Terror")

This appears to be a cherry tree. There are a dozen warriors who fight eternally under this tree, for anyone who eats the fruit of this tree becomes so enamored with its taste that they want nothing but to eat it, and they will fight to the death with anyone who tries to stop them. Those who attempt to take and eat a cherry are not prevented. However, anyone who tastes the fruit must successfully save vs. poison or join the battle. The tree resurrects anyone slain in this battle, so the war is endless. Over the course of the years, the warrior's weapons and armor have become broken and useless, so now this battle has degenerated from honorable combat to the pure savagery of naked barbarians punching, wrestling, and gouging each other like animals. Cherry blossoms continually fall upon their fighting forms. The sight is disgusting enough to require a horror check when it is first seen.

XP Value: 2,000

GP Value: 10,000