

Styling by Lloyd Toone

This represents Post modern art well because some of the ideas of post modern art are that the idea in art is what matters, not how it was made or the product. They believed that art can be made out of anything, like this one is made out of shoes.