

SL: Discovering the Untapped Power of Your Tweets

Hi Ian and Jeremy,

I saw your latest tweet on Twitter where you said: It isn't selfish to care about yourself; it's essential for your physical and mental health.

After reading your tweet I felt his power of grabbing attention and started to look for his true potential.

While looking, I saw you have your book on Amazon. That was a moment when I found the true potential of your tweets.

And I know exactly how to unleash hidden power in the potential of your tweets by expanding from non-profitable messages into high-profitable advertisements.

Have a look at what I mean:

By creating this additional content via email, your observers will get direct motivation, and because of getting them to action, it's more likely they will check out or promote your book to others.

Are you interested in changing your tweets into profitable ads?

Then contact me back to arrange a call this week to discuss the details of this project.

Kind Regards,

Kamil Gwóźdź
