Key
 I really want to do this plot
* i can, but not my fave atm
~ not interested in this atm

A phantom *
A life wasted. Thats what character a's life was, since they were murdered young. Told to be suicide, their ex lover caused to their death. Shoving someone out the window is a hell of a way to go, aint it? Well, this experience causes a spirit to be born. They lived out on the window ledge in a constant pearly blue transparent state. But when character b moves into the apartment, they thought nothing of the ghost. Thats because character a cant be seen during the day

But that night is when things go south for character b. They are initially startled, but soon the two characters form a friendship. But over time, character a became unhappy with their current state. Trapped in nothingness during the day, and longs for nights with character b. Their loneliness soon gets the better of character a, one night they decide enough is enough and they try to leave the ledge. But when they attempt to fall to the earth below, character b grabs character a, saving character a's newfound life

The girl with a dragon *
Set in the sixteenth century, rumors of a mysterious witch spread throughout Europe. She had a magical time traveling dragon that could take her anywhere she wanted or needed to go. So when she is found in a tavern, exposed, saving a girl that had been mistaken for her, things didnt go over well to be put lightly

The teacher ~
A teacher had put their child up for adoption, but this child ended up in their class. Non romantic

Ex hero x villain ~
Being a hero was fun and all, but character a decides that their skills and powers would be better used against their old friends. Character b shows character a what being a villain is really like

Ex hero x hero ~
Character a is an aspiring hero, and looks to character b's help to come to their full potential, but character b is the greatest villain known, though their identity isnt known by character a.

Ex hero x hero 2 *
Character a and b were best friends when they were young, both becoming world known heros before age eighteen. Though, character a decided they wanted to be villian, quickly becoming character b's enemy. Character a, in their late twenties, decides to kidnap character b. Their encounter brings up lost feelings of love towards each other… when character b gets free, do they kill character a once and for all?

Idol x fan **

Character a is a famous idol. He is a very charming person, doing plenty of charity work and appealing towards the public with his stunts. So he forms a relationship with character b, who is a huge fan of his. But behind closed doors, he is manipulative, abusive, and negative. He blackmails character b to stay with him and to seem like they are in love with him, all for the media's eye.

Soulmates au; first words *
Character a is selective mute, so they only talk in certain situations. Though, none of these situations have included character b, character a's current boyfriend. But when they both attend a party, they get into a fight. As character b is about to leave, character a asks them to stay. This is in a universe where the first words of a person's soulmate is written on their wrist

The queen *
When character a's father, the king, selects an heir who is unrelated to him and his daughter, character a flees the palace and lives among the peasants. After the heir, character b, 's coronation, character a invades with her own army. She was who the people wanted on the throne. After the overthrow, character a inprisons character b. But after time spent together, she realizes he isn't to blame. He wasn't the one who selected him,

Teacher x student ~
Both characters are in relationships, the teacher with another teacher and the student with another student. Slowly, they lose interest in their partners, and end up in a relationship together. But its against the rules, of course, so they need their ex's help to convince the higher ups that their forbidden relationship isnt happening

Angel x human **
Fifty years ago, a large amount of people simply vanished one night. Now, on the anniversary of that night, they all return. None of them looks a day older than they were when they vanished. Only these people are different, they returned with an ability.

Back from the dead **
Fifty years ago, a large amount of people simply vanished one night. Now, on the anniversary of that night, they all return. None of them looks a day older than they were when they vanished. Only these people are different, they returned with an ability.