In Stable 15 most ponies' talents are related in some way to the health and upkeep of the stable and its inhabitants; whether they are mechanics, scientists or artists – everypony contributes to keeping their home livable, safe and as pleasant as possible. All except Whisper, her useless special talent and weak magic make her an outcast in the all unicorn stable and an – expendable member of the community. When an accident damages the stable's water talisman, Whisper is sent out in search of a replacement with time and the horrors of the wasteland set against her. Will she save the home that has no place for her, or fade away into the wastes?
