TEN Reasons you are losing winnable games

You leave the court wondering why you are losing. Or does the person who is your partner not do so well while playing with you, but when they play opposite of you are playing so well? I will explain the ten possible reasons this is happening to you and how you can better focus on these issues to see if one or more of these applies to your game. You see many top players who video their game. This is to analysis their game and understand what they did right and wrong. While we will not be videoing your play, we will make you aware of these reasons why you may be losing games where you should be winning. Once you understand the cause, you can go out on the court with an additional focus on the important aspect of your game.

Drills will be set up for each of the shots and you will have time to work on executing these shots. Games will be played to incorporate the strategies and tactics outlined in this Clinic.

Observations and feedback will be provided during the session to improve your game. Continued drills after this session will greatly improve your game and reduce the unforced errors.

Do Not Miss the opportunity to learn the key strategies and the tactics used to Avoid Unforced Errors and stop losing winnable games.
