

'Saudi Syndrome' and the future of hunting in Colorado January 25, 2025

The Daily Sentinel

... the Theodore Roosevelt Conservation Partnership (TRCP), a large national coalition of hunting and fishing groups, always-fatal Chronic Wasting Disease (CWD) is the biggest threat to the future of deer hunting. The same can also be said for elk hunting. Today, 82% of Colorado's deer herds and 40% of our elk herds have some level of CWD infection, and it's getting worse. Already, one in four deer in the largest herd in the state — the White River herd — have CWD..,

Colorado senator says divide between wolf advocates and ranchers has 'never been greater' February 19, 2025 Yahoo

... "Will wolves solve the CWD problem in Colorado? Probably not," Odell said. "... there are areas where wolves have been present for quite a while and CWD is gaining a foothold despite the fact there are wolves on the ground." ..,
