

<Name>

Mr. Burns

Pre-AP US History I

<Due Date>

Civil War Changes Everything

US.1.5.4 Presentation

The American Civil War, fought from _____ to _____, is considered by historians to be the last of the Napoleonic Wars, and the first industrial war, or modern war.

	Napoleonic War	Industrial War/Modern War
Tactics
Effects on Citizens
Technology
Engagements

All wars require _____ and _____.

Draft

When the war first started the Union and the Confederacy had more troops than they could supply. Overtime due to large casualties, _____, they were forced to require fighting aged men to join. In order to provide for the overwhelming demand for soldiers both sides of the Civil War held military drafts. A military draft is _____. As a bonus some men were paid a cash bonus for joining and serving in the war on top of their regular salary. Those who refused to fight would be imprisoned and fined.

Trench Warfare

Napoleonic warfare depended heavily on the enemy standing right in front of you. Both sides would line up like a chess board and engage each other head on. During the American Civil War soldiers began to dig trenches to help _____, making them harder to shoot.

Mass Produced Weapons

Every army needs weapons to win a war. During the later part of the American Civil War weapons were in large amounts for both sides. Below is a chart that explains how they got their weapons.

North	South

Unconventional War

Again moving away from the idea of Napoleonic warfare, the American Civil War was also fought with unconventional means. Besides fighting on the battlefields, both sides resorted to

Basic Military Strategy

