Rules and Details

-The minimum for payment is 15€, which will account for a story that's 2000 words (I noticed it's the usual length for my stories). Each extra 500 words will be 5€ more, although I will try to always make them a bit longer if I feel generous. NOTE: At the moment, because of my lack of time and motivation, I will only accept stories of a maximum of 3500 words.

-This is what I mean with the vignettes, which cost 9€. Essentially, these are short stories that can fit in pretty much anything you want, like a Discord message or the alt-text of a picture on BlueSky. If you want to support me but you don't have as much money, this is your option to go.

-Aside from stories you can also ask me to translate a story from English into Spanish and vice-versa! For this one the pricing would be 0,01€ per word, and I'd want the payment to be exact! Translation commissions will be in a separate queue and will have a slightly bigger priority since translating is a lot easier than writing for me. The rest of the rules from my rule list apply to the translations as well.

-Please use an online converter if you use a currency that isn't EUR.

-Like with my requests, I can write about ENF, ENM, exhibitionism, nudism and simply vanilla NSFW stuff. I may accept other kinks but only as complementary to the kinks I mentioned before, and something that we will have to discuss more personally.

-I won't be writing about characters who are canonically underage! I will only accept that if the character has a canon adult version that I can use (for instance, the Squid Sisters from Splatoon were 17 in the first game, but 19 in the second game, so if I write about them it'd have to be set on Splatoon 2).

-While stories featuring furry/anthro characters are fine by me (I mean, my sona is a fish-dog hybrid and Zootopia is the series I've written the most about), I draw the line at characters that are too animal-like. Essentially, if they look too close to regular animals or if they behave like animals, I won't write about them, and the same way I won't age up canonically underage characters, I won't make humanoid designs just for the sake of my stories. These kinds of characters can be part of the stories, but the lewd focus won't be on them (for example, parodying the coppertone ad).

-As for which series I can write about, a comprehensive list is at the bottom of the sheet. However, if a series is not featured on the list, just ask me and I'll let you know if I'm familiar with it. I am also willing to catch up if it's nothing too long (if you want me to write about a long RPG or a long-running series I haven't watched, that'll be a no from me). I have two blacklists as well: temporary blacklist includes works or characters that I'm currently taking a break from writing about due to burn out or other reasons, while the regular blacklist are stuff that I'll NEVER write.

-Stories featuring OCs are totally valid as well! But please make sure to send me descriptions of them or show me reference images so I know what they look like. And of course, they must be adults.

-Only one story per commission! I am okay with writing perhaps an epilogue at the end where maybe some more embarrassing stuff happens, but it's super hard for me to judge the length of a story that is actually multiple stories in one like if it's an Anthology. This rule is a bit more vague so just let me know what you have in mind and I will let you know if it's allowed or not. Sequels to prior commissions are okay.

-If you are interested in commissioning a story, tell me using the DeviantArt notes, BlueSky Private Messages or hit me up on Discord (fishythedog) so we can talk about it. (Don't use the DeviantArt chat, it's borderline broken, and I also no longer use Twitter for obvious reasons). Don't pay me until we properly decide on what the story will be about, I don't want to get paid for a story idea I'm not content with. This is also the reason I won't post my PayPal account here.

-Speaking of, when commissioning me, do not mention anything lewd on the PayPal message! Specially nowadays, any mention that I do NSFW commissions in the payment details could lead to my account being terminated there.

-You can ask me about commissions if I have them open but the slots are filled. I have a private list where I keep track of all of y'all!

-Requests will still be a thing but much less prominent. I'll mostly keep them for close friends only, and they'll have a lower priority when compared to my commissions. May do raffles from time to time, so stay tuned for those. I also do art-trades but again, these will be less prominent and exclusively with friends of mine.

-And the final rule is just... be patient with me, okay? I'm only human and there will be points in my life where my creative juices won't be flowing as much, and getting impatient won't help me write faster. I'm willing to give the money back if I take way too long to complete something that's on top of the queue.
