About Cypress College Prep

Cypress College Prep is a private school expanding from AJ Tutoring's programs, including their for-credit program with HBA. Since 2005, AJ Tutoring has grown almost exclusively via word of mouth because of the outstanding work of our staff. AJT and CCP's similar goals are to provide a great educational experience for our students and their families, and we work hard to maintain our strong reputation in the Bay Area communities we serve. We have high standards for our staff, and we provide extensive training and support in return. CCP is looking for their inaugural teaching team to help lead this exciting endeavor with our 9th grade cohort.

Cypress College Prep is a small (6 students maximum per class) program to support our staff's ability to personalize students' educational experiences to meet them where they are at, to then support and challenge students to meet their individual high school and college goals. CCP does this by supporting the whole student, mind and body. Through one to one support and small learning groups, we develop students' academic, social, and emotional skills, and promote physical health. This unique private school option bridges homeschooling and one to one learning by also providing small group social opportunities.

Job Summary

Our teaching staff will facilitate students with a real-world and hands-on approach to help students master content using the standards-based grading philosophy. The curriculum team has developed the materials for our teaching team, and will continue to support the teaching team. In addition to teaching their content area, teachers will support the overall school culture. Teachers will also facilitate a social emotional learning community, have a small case of students they mentor weekly, host office hours, opportunities to host student clubs, and participate in on-going professional development (on-going coaching support, and staff meetings).

Ideal Candidate

Our ideal teaching candidates are excited to join CCP's founding team to support its growth and development. They are also:

- Passionate about education
- Experienced in working with students with diverse learning needs
- An expert in your subject area (teaching credential or masters degree preferred)
- Excellent at communicating with students, parents, and colleagues
- Team-oriented and coachable
- Enthusiastic and positive!

Requirements/Qualifications
