Dolphins

Dolphins are sea-mammals.

They have to breathe air or they will die. They are members of the Delphinidae family. Dolphins have smooth skin. Only baby dolphins are born with a few bristly hairs on their snouts.

The hairs soon fall out. They have a long tail and the fin on the top of their backs keeps the dolphin from rolling over. The female dolphins have a thick layer of fat under their skin to keep them warm when they dive very deep. The dolphin's front fins are called flippers. They use them to turn left and right. Dolphins grow from 2 to 3 meters long and weigh up to 75 kilograms.

Dolphins hunt together in a group. A group of dolphins is called a pod. They eat fish, shrimps and small squid. They live in salt water oceans. Dolphins can hold their breath for six minutes.

When dolphins hear or see a ship close by they go near it and follow it from many kilometers. Dolphins can leap out of the water and do some somersaults. Sometimes they invent their own tricks and stunts after watching other dolphins perform.

Dolphins are very friendly to people and have never harmed anyone. They are very playful animals.

How to make books ends

To make them you will need: two rectangular tins or shoe boxes, some pebbles, card paper or plain colored paper, thick card board, glue, posters colors and brush.

All you have to do is:

- 1) Fill the tins or shoe boxes with the pebbles.
- 2) Wrap the boxes neatly with the card paper and glue it in place.
- 3) Use your imagination and paint on the colored paper. You could stick pictures of your favorite cartoon characters to make the book ends attractive.
- 4) Cut two pieces of cardboard. 15 centimeters long and the same width as the box.
- 5) Cut one end of the cardboard into a curve as shown. Now all you have to do is glue the box near the curved end of the cardboard. You can paint the cardboard if you like.
- 6) Repeat this with the other box and cardboard. Place the straight ends of the cardboard pieces together. Now you can place your books in between the book ends.

Book ends are of great help to keep your book in order.

Read the text carefully and answer questions 33 – 36.

Dear Revi,

I'm glad to see you again. It's quite a long time we don't write each other, eh?

Hopefully all run well.

Well, you wrote me the last time that dangers are around us so we have to be able to protect ourselves. That made me thinking about joining martial arts. I still doubt which I'll join and which suits me. I browse for some information and I learn that each martial arts has its own moves. Karate, Kung Fu, and Tae Kwon Do involve kicks and punches. Jujitsu, Judo and Aikido use holds and throws. Silat, our original martial art is also interesting. Yeah, I do love to see people wearing pants, robe and belt in dojo to practice. Each has different color belt. Well, maybe, because they have different level.

Well, I think, beside for self protection, practicing martial arts is a good exercise for us. Do you think Judo you've joined suits for me?

Anyway, I still doubt which I should join. Please give your opinion.

I'm madly looking forward to your reply.

Rahmannisa.
