

For Immediate Release

Dick Fallow Endowment for Social Justice Accepting Applications for Annual Grant

The Dick Fallow Endowment for Social Justice has announced it is accepting applications for its annual grant. Applications must be submitted by October 31st, 2015.

The Dick Fallow Endowment for Social Justice was established in 2013 to carry on the life work of Richard E. Fallow who fought for Labor and Economic Justice; Environmental Sustainability; and Democracy and Human Rights. Each year the Endowment will issue a grant in one of these categories: The endowment is administered by the Community Foundation of the Great River Bend and managed by Progressive Action for the Common Good.

Criteria for grant applicants:

- Their work must serve the Quad Cities and immediate surrounding areas

- It must be an organization and not an individual

- It must fit under one of the three categories of serving Labor/Economic Justice
Environment/Sustainability, and Democracy/Human Rights

- With some exceptions, the organization has to be locally chartered and not part of a national organization with access to resources that local groups do not have

- The grant will not be available to partisan organizations

Once all grant applications are received, beginning November 1st, a grant selection committee composed will evaluate all applications and make their decision no later than November 15th.

Last year's grant was awarded to the Center for Workers Justice of Eastern Iowa to support their Jobs with Dignity Campaign.

We encourage all interested applicants to download an application from this website: <http://qcprogressiveaction.org/>
