Abstract (11 pt)

Please write specific purpose of the study. Mention the key techniques, data sources, or experimental design employed. Summarize the main findings or outcomes of the research. Present the conclusions or implications drawn from the results. If possible, include any substantial future research.

Keywords: Cultural tourism, traditional houses (11 pt)

Introduction (candara, 12 pt)

Explain the broader context, significance, and relevance of the subject matter. Discuss any previous research, theories, or key concepts that are pertinent to your study. It goes directly to the gaps of current facts why the research is critical to do. Clearly state the research problem or gap in knowledge that your study aims to address. Describe why the topic is important and how it contributes to the field or fills a knowledge void. Emphasize and highlight the research question or objective that your study seeks to answer.

Literature Review (optional)

Methods (candara, 12 pt)

This section aims to explain how you conducted the research, collected and analyzed the data, and ensured the validity and reliability of your findings.

Findings (candara, 12 pt)

This section focuses on summarizing and explaining the key findings and outcomes derived from your data analysis. It can be covering descriptive statistics, qualitative report, quantitative findings and tables and figures.

Discussion (candara, 12 pt)

Remind the reader of the purpose of the study is to create a clear connection between the findings and the original research goals. In this section, you can summarize the findings. Providing a concise summary of the key findings from your study is important; recapitulate the main results without repeating the data in detail. Focus on the most important outcomes that directly address the research questions. Explain the meaning and implications of your results, relating them back to the theoretical framework or previous studies. Highlight any unexpected or noteworthy findings and discuss their potential causes or consequences and make any comparison with Previous Research. Discuss how your findings compare to previous studies in the field. You can identify similarities, differences, or contradictions between your results and the existing literature. Address any inconsistencies and provide possible explanations or theories to reconcile them. Discuss the practical implications of your findings and how they contribute to real-world applications or decision-making. Also, highlight the theoretical implications by addressing how your study adds to the existing knowledge base and contributes to the broader theoretical framework.

Future Research Directions: Suggest potential avenues for future research based on the gaps or unanswered questions identified in your study. Highlight areas that require further investigation and discuss how your study can be expanded upon or improved. Offer recommendations for future researchers to build upon your work. Conclusion: Summarize the main points discussed in the discussion section and restate the significance of your findings in relation to the research objectives. End the section with a concise conclusion that emphasizes the key takeaways from your study. Remember to write the discussion section in a clear, concise, and organized manner. Use subheadings to structure the section and guide the reader through the different aspects of the discussion. Support your claims with evidence, be objective in your analysis, and avoid overgeneralizing the findings.

Conclusion (candara, 12 pt)

Summarize the main findings. Focus on the most important findings that directly address the research objectives or questions. Discuss what is the Implications of the findings. Explain how your research contributes to the field, addresses a specific problem, or provides insights that can inform future studies or practices. Highlight the potential impact and benefits that may arise from your research. Keep in mind to state the limitation and future directions in your conclusion. You can suggest areas that require further investigation and provide recommendations for future researchers to build upon your work.
