Bunny, who is widely referred to as @bunny_wars on X/Twitter, is a popular Disney theme park artist who draws beloved Disney characters and obscure media from former attractions. Bunny joined the DisTwitter theme park fandom around March 2019 under the name @wondersofwife before she went by her current @bunny_wars handle. Now, the @wondersofwife handle is in use for her private account, plus she has another account under the handle @sensorybunhouse where there is active NSFW. If you are reading this and questioning, “why Bunny”? Bunny has previously shown off behaviors deemed weird in her public Twitter space where minors follow her and are present in the park fandom. Many young artists grew charisma to her for art, advice, and questions about the Wonders of Life pavilion at Epcot. She is getting away with her behaviors while being rewarded for it by people who are unaware about what she has done and more.

What is Bunny known for?

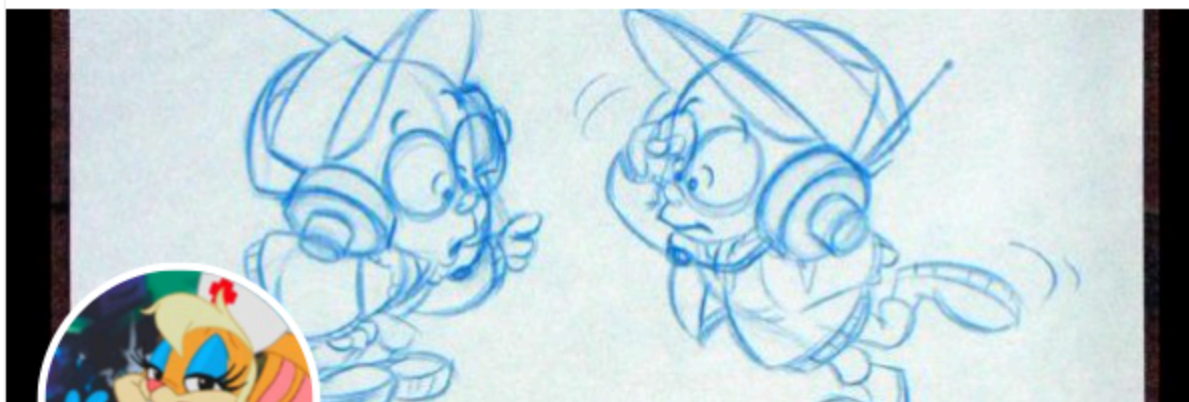

Bunny often crushes for fictional characters that are adults on her @bunny_wars handle, but she is iconic on DisTwitter overall for having a special interest fondly to Buzzy from Cranium Command. The said character stems from Walt Disney World’s Epcot park and the attraction is from the now defunct health theme pavilion, aiming to spread importance of both the human body and strength of mind.

As far it is known, these are all Bunny’s accounts that she has on X.

Nemu/Holden/Malfunction54

Trigger Warning: Mentions of NSFW including mentions of child p*rn and sexual related fetishes

She went by Christy (her real name), Holden/Nemu/Malfunction54 and a various set of precedent usernames, was notorious for her puking/vomit, gore, bestiality, piss + poop, radiation, child p*rn, bondage, and other sexual fetishes. Holden/Nemu's threads were originally created when she got called out in 2018, so certain events occurred between 2012-2017. Furthermore, exacerbating her pattern intensity, She was called out on Tumblr back before 2018 over them, vanished to Twitter, then was called out again afterwards. The threads listed in this section discuss who she is as a person, give insight to her actions, the art she has made, her friends, and the victims coming out anonymously to talk about their experience with her while they were minors. Her fetishes remain currently ongoing today.

Bunny's fetish art sparks from her Tumblr era in 2012-2015 containing inappropriate innuendo when describing the work, character, or overall in general; exposing minors to following sexual advancements listed near the top. But Bunny also slandered users whenever they called her out for her accused predatory behavior, including backstabbing mutuals no longer worthy to her. According to threaded conversations, sometimes she would post that they "are dead" to her without context, or labeled herself as the victim while evidence from her friends conveyed that she intentionally left because of each mutual being bothered by her inflicted actions. Bunny supported individuals sharing taste for her fetishes, yet ignored her friends worried about the behavior where the media was mostly targeted in minor-filled spaces.

The threads made about her were active when she got called out in 2018, 2019 and gradually went down in activity as time went by; the last time there was activity was over a year ago. Anonymous users analyzed whenever she was called out, she is “off the internet”, or returns under a different username to avoid accountbaility. There are recollections on how she was an untrustworthy friend, predatory towards minors, doxxed IP addresses, and whenever she gets called out on her behaviors she sends her friends to harass the person trying to remove their presence off the internet.

Recollections of Nemu

Trigger Warning: Grooming, mentions of r*pe/non-con, b*stiaity, p*dophilia, self harm and stalking

Victims of Nemu shed light on how they were friends with Nemu as minors, with an unidentified user elucidating how they were drawn in because “how caring and ready to give attention she was” as a motherly figure role model. Anon artist shares how Nemu doxxed and stalked their IP address. Oogly Woogly discloses unpleasant memories they had on how Nemu groomed them to express their sexuality and groomed minors into indulging her sexual fetishes; they reflected on how the fetishes deteriorated their mental health. BastardLegs states they used to be friends with Nemu, they recap a few memories about her and how they fell out and says “Nemu constantly looks up herself online. I wouldn’t be surprised if she’s found this thread and has been checking it regularly.” A Tumblr user linoone reblogs posts about how the name Nemu was tainted because of her, mentions that she drew vomit p*rn and p*dophilia content during the onceler fandom. He states that she drew child p*rn and was fine showing it to minors.

☐ Anonymous 7 years ago No. 642480 >>642487

I used to be friends with Nemu. We didn't talk every single day but we talked quite often and I think that fucked me up, considering I was a minor (this would've roughly been 4 - 5 years ago, maybe a bit less, I don't remember that clearly).

As someone who didn't have a great relationship with their mom, someone like Nemu was such a draw-in with how caring and ready to give attention she was. And someone else also mentioned you get drawn in to wanting to be like her - I experienced this too but not so bad.

I think when you like her you can ignore how overtly sexual and gross she is because she is just so nice. But when you're a kid you don't realise how much of it you actually take in. I cannot vomit from having too much alcohol without thinking about Nemu, instantly. I can't have someone mention vomit, pregnancy, whatever, without thinking of it as an inherently sexual thing.

These aren't even fetishes of mine, I don't find them to be sexual or arousing. But there is a constant, persistent, association of these gross things with her. I was happy being exposed to this sort of content at first because I think people should celebrate what they're into, but I think another anon mentioned that normalisation of THESE types of kinks to THIS extent to kids does no good whatsoever.

Nemu could do so much better and could reflect real deep on how she treats others, how her public image effects others, but the fact she chooses not to and her boyfriend nor friends don't try to help her move past it either is so disappointing and degrading to people who were like this that actually bothered to try to change how they were

Hello everyone, I am actually so glad I have found this thread because Nemu was very traumatic for me. I am staying anonymous because she has my IP address.. yeah I will get into that.

(Before I go into this I don't have many receipts as this all happened when I was 14/15 on tumblr and the PC I did have the evidence on has now died. However, I do have one message from her)

When I first came across Nemu on Tumblr, She was a very popular, well known artist. I now know this is because of the content she draw, it was shocking and to some very gross. Now I wasn't interested in what she drew but more how she draw. I adored her style and would often look over her gross, messed up content. Reminder, I was 14 at the time so I was clearly under aged and I now cringe thinking about it. I started interacting with her, talking mainly about her art style and how much I liked it and she was lovely at first. I then mentioned I wanted to draw something nice for her, as she was always kind to me and my art so I thought nothing of it.

Nemu was aware I was young and naive but instead on polity explaining to me that redrawing her work wasn't exactly okay, she decided to shame me and scream at me for "tracing her work" and "copying her".

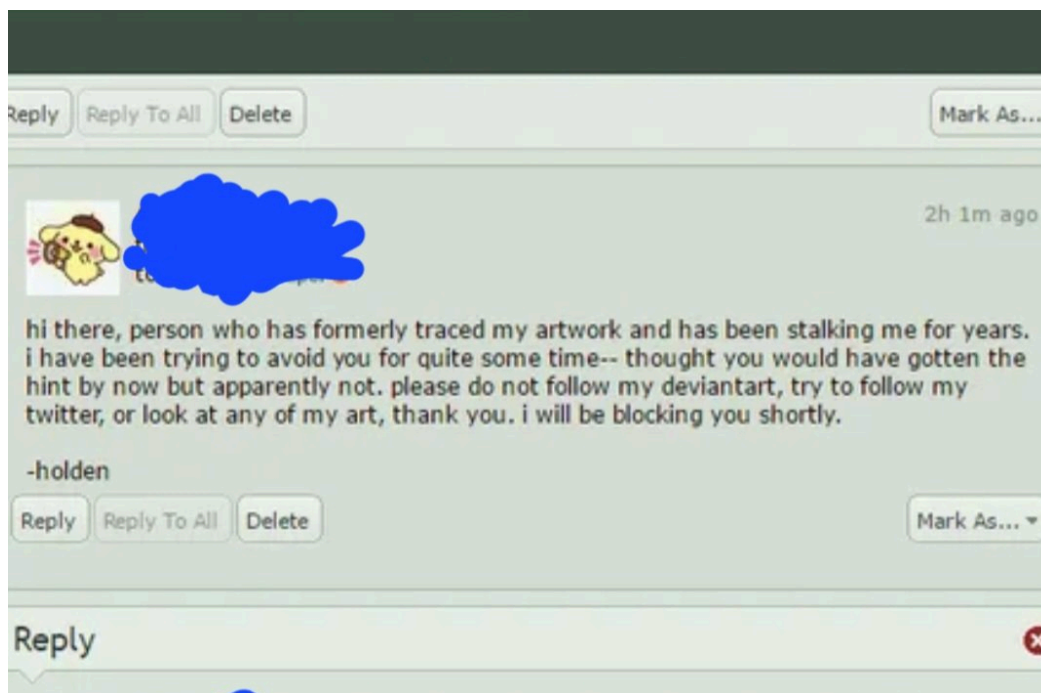

I DID NOT TRACE HER WORK! I worked very hard on that piece and even made the effort to changing parts of it. It was a redraw of a piece of hers that was intended as a gift for her and not for my own personal gain. I remember apologizing and telling her I will take it down and delete it from my files but that wasn't enough. (I did delete the piece from my files. I wish I didn't for the purpose of this thread but admittedly I didn't think at he age of 14/15 that a woman in America would find my IP address and stalk my every move.)

She then blocked me from seeing her work and for some reason I just couldn't upload her Tumblr at all, even in Incognito mode...almost as if she blocked it through my IP address? if that's even possible? who knows.

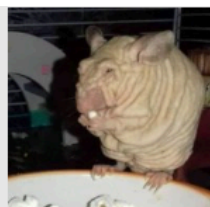

She treat me like a thief ,as if I did something really bad and made sure to hide her work and accounts from me.. and for what? Because a young teen wanted to do something nice for you but made a little mistake that she was quite happy to fix? Its almost like dealing with a child but I believe, at the time, she was an adult. Either way, a lot older than I.

A few years after this I found out she was doing live streams, I watched it for 3 minutes before she paused the stream and left a message telling me to leave. I wasn't logged in so how did she know it was me? my IP address. I was really creeped out. I only joined the stream to see if it was actually her as I hadn't heard anything from her since tumblr, I wasn't interested in what she was doing, I just wanted to see if she was still active. In the message on the stream she confirmed she knew my IP address, SHE ADMITTED SHE FOUND MY IP ADDRESS AND WAS KEEPING TABS ON IT. (Isn't this illegal?) I really wish I had evidence of that but instead of print screening it, I freaked out and I cried about it to my boyfriend as I was in shock (he was with me at the time)

NOW here's the one evidence I do have. I found her on Deviant art a fer years go (the print screen was taken when the message was sent), I don't remember interacting with her work and I most definitely did not follow her. I think I did share a drawing of hers with a friend which is how she may of caught wind of me. Anyway she sent me this:

She is a grown adult, talking down to me. I wasn't stalking her, her art was suggested to me so I looked. Like all of us here in this thread, we are intrigued by her and how someone could be into the messed up stuff she is into. I now (27) have no interest in her work or her style as I have found my own path and the only reason I am making this comment is because I was looking through Twitter, saw a few Atro boy drawings and thought "hmm.. wonder what that Nemu is up to" and then BOOM! look, more people who thought she was horrible, damaging and way too open about her sexual interest with minors. I am not sure if I am the only one who has had to deal with this side of her but in a sick way, I hope i'm not as I am curious so hear these stories. For a while I actually thought I did something wrong to her but I didn't. Shes just very private and protective of her work which I understand.. but to go this far? to stalk down a minors IP address? To watch her every move? just because I wanted do something nice?? It just doesn't add up to me at all.

i was never going to bump this thread with my own personal experiences because i don't think they contribute that much, but since it just got bumped today i'll throw in my 2 cents. i'm sorry because i know this counts as blogposting and powerleveling and TMI, but some other people have chimed in with similar stories, so i hope it's okay. this thread is what brought me to kiwifarms, because nemu unfortunately had a somewhat significant impact on my life, and last year i went on a hunt to find out what happened to them after they disappeared off the internet.

i found nemu's tumblr through their SFW fanart when i was 15. they had their NSFW tumblr linked (or easily findable). their art was good, and cutesy, and i found it interesting that they fixated so much on such random, unliked characters. they would insist that a lot of their fetish art was NOT porn, since it wasn't always explicitly sexual (like vomiting). when i was 15-16, like most teens, i was extremely impressionable, especially in regards to sexuality. this was dangerous, because nemu FREQUENTLY would go on rants about how all kinks were harmless because it was just fantasy. rape/noncon, pedophilia, bestiality, gore/necro, and other nasty shit was their bread and butter, and they drew and reblogged it constantly, as you all know. they would make these arguments that since it was "just drawings", no one was getting hurt and nothing was wrong; they would claim "everyone has weird gross fetishes, it's normal! so embrace it, instead of hating yourself :-). their attitude was that people who were openly into gross kinks were somehow better and more honest than people who were vanilla. i had already seen these kinds of points made before by bronies when i was a 13-year-old girl who liked MLP and stumbled upon massive amounts of degenerate porn, but nemu specifically positioned herself as a "motherly" figure, trying to "help" people. i would specifically send asks, anon and not-anon (where my age was visible on my account), asking for reassurance that i wasn't a bad person for looking at or being titilated by "bad" porn. nemu would encourage me to "express my sexuality", and tell me i was doing nothing wrong and that i was brave for supporting them. i don't have these messages saved since i've deleted my account years ago, so you'll just have to trust me. nemu not only KNEW that minors were following their NSFW blogs, but they specifically WANTED minors to. they lured them in with cutesy drawings of cartoon characters, and subtly manipulated them into indulging in their fetishes by asking for/sending asks and describing their fetishes in detail. they normalized these "kinks" to the point where i, at 16, had no real idea of how fucked up it was to jerk off to the thought of being brutally raped and murdered by an older man. my mental health was horrible around this time, and i was self-harming-- i think these fantasies were a form of self-harm. i thank god every day that i was never involved in any sort of statutory rape, because i would have been a willing victim. it was a good thing that they fucked off the face of the planet, even though i missed them at the time, because as i aged i realized how fucked up they were and how i should have stayed far away from them in the first place.

7 years later, i've gone through lots of self-reflection, therapy, and healing. it has been a hard process discovering my OWN sexuality, not some random creep on tumblr's projected onto me-- one that DOESN'T include rape, ageplay, gore, bestiality, or any other disgusting kinks. i used to blame myself for traumatizing myself, because technically i was the one who followed them and looked at their drawings and read their posts. but i was only 15, and i didn't know any better. nemu should have known better, but they specifically made posts that explained that minors should be allowed to look at whatever kinds of porn they want to, and explained harmful paraphilia in a way to make it palatable and normalized to their audience. reading other people's experiences with nemu on kiwifarms and lolcow helped me feel less alone about this experience and helped me to stop blaming myself for that dark part of my life.

i hope to god that nemu is no longer working with children. they should be registered as a sex offender. even though they were never in direct physical contact with me, they were in digital contact with me that psychologically harmed me and many others. they are a bad person, despite spending their entire life acting like a saint and a victim.

In Nemu's mind, kinkshaming was akin to bullying. You couldn't even joke about being kinkshamed (i.e. a friend teasing you for a character you liked and you say "I'm being kinkshamed!") because it was that serious to her. She held her "abusers" on Tumblr (read: the people who just made fun of her) to be on the same level of suicide-goaders and stalkers. Keep in mind this moral crusading is coming from a woman who was friends with a guy who fucked an Astro Boy plush doll and "can't help what he's into".

There was one time when Nemu was watching 1000 Ways To Die, the series Ron Perlman narrated - I think it was on TV in her work's employee break room - and got really upset during the segment "Crib Your Enthusiasm". To cut it short, it's about a guy with a baby roleplaying fetish who winds up getting his neck crushed when he sticks his head through a drop-side crib. Nemu came to Twitter that day, very distraught about how the episode "kinkshamed" a "common fetish", and her disgust at the line, "Ohh, does baby have a boo-boo??" She was so upset then, but it's always cracked me up how Nemu got indirectly kinkshamed by Ron Perlman.

Towards the end of my experience with Nemu (around February or March 2016), she was starting to get really antsy around anyone who didn't really belong around her. If you were close to her and not kinky enough, she started to wonder if you were an impostor/mole/secret abuser/whatever. I talked to someone who later admitted they faked having a hypnosis fetish in order to prolong their friendship(?) with her.

@BastardLegs if you don't mind me asking, how did you end up falling out with her? i don't blame you if you got out because she was grody, but from what i know she has a penchant for ending friendships dramatically.

It's hard to describe without whipping out my power level, but basically, I got into a fight with a mutual friend. That friend then vented it all to Nemu, who then decided I should be ejected from her entire friend network. It turned into a full-on callout and a call for everyone to block me...some of the stuff they made up for the callout was pretty hilarious. (Knowing what we do now, I realize that whenever Nemu tells everyone to block a person, it's not because they're dangerous, it's so that they can't tell their side of the story.) A few people did ask why something this stupidly trivial was being made into a big public production, but I think they later got excommunicated too. Some of her fans also followed me around online for several months to make sure I wasn't shit-talking their supreme leader.

Looking back, I think Nemu was getting super paranoid if one of her friends was a mole. She had been away from Tumblr for a while, but was still insecure over whether or not her "haters" there were keeping tabs on her and farming from afar. Obviously I wasn't doing that back then, but hey, why talk to someone, when you can shoot first and tell your followers that you've saved them all and they should be grateful? (There's no way to describe Nemu's friend circle without it sounding cult-like. Because it was.)

Nemu constantly looks up herself online. I wouldn't be surprised if she's found this thread and has been checking it regularly.

i like the name nemu but it was ruined by that weirdo from the onceler fandom who drew vomit porn & pedophilia all the time. thats old drama but it surprises me to know shes still around in our lords year of 2018

linoone 🧠

not on tumblr i mean but on twitter

i like how shes “taking a break” on twitter because people are becoming much more aware of her past sins and the fact she was a grown woman who drew child pornography & was fine with showing that sort of thing to minors

linoone 🧠

this is such ancient drama but its so interesting. did she stop going by “nemu” because of the whole “dont go by a name that isnt part of your race” thing? funny shed be compliant of that, of all things, and pretending she didnt know reblogging porn of a 12 year old and saying it was “sexy” was a bad thing

Negative Discord experiences

Bunny formed a discord server that she intended to chat with neurodivergent people, artists underage, and additional subjects similar to her passions. Acknowledged in the beginning that young artists look up to Bunny, they joined expecting innocent content relating to the parks. A member in her server was coincidentally far from pure. They groomed kids 13-17 into drawing NSFW content and Bunny's behavior towards Buzzy in the Discord server provoked discomfort.

I'm considering making another public Discord server. I really enjoyed having a space w/ WoLArchive Discord where I could chat with other ND people, encourage young artists, spread positivity, etc...just don't know what to theme it... (Am no longer associated with WoLArchive ofc)

A minor came forward with an experience about being groomed into drawing NSFW from a member from her server. The groomer turned out to be a shotacon, which is an alike term for lolicon, but it is targeted towards boys instead of girls. The minor felt super guilty when looking back at it.

for context someone in the server groomed me into drawing nsfw. i thought it was ok at the time because we were both minors and i didnt think much of it. looking back at it i feel super guilty and the person who groomed me ended up being a shota con

Now recognizing Bunny's habit with a foreshadowing history of both grooming and befriending minors, she follows minors such as @NoWheureMan. An anonymous user who was interested in Cranium Command has come forward on how they started chatting with Bunny (spacevirus) when they were 17 and as soon as they turned 18, observed that Bunny started interacting with them less; eventually ignoring them without an explanation.

I was mulling over my experiences with Nemu again, trying to put together more things to post in her (i.e. not just Tumblr grade "this person was really weird and mean umu" crap), when I realized something that's had a lasting effect: a term Nemu made up, "fictional others". People still use it in little corners of Tumblr.

Back in 2015, when Nemu started to get more attention from people outside her friend group, she started getting heat for calling the characters she'd fuck her husbandos/waifus. A few anons were calling her racist (likely just people yanking her chain), so she started workshopping a new reference term. I don't know who helped her come up with it, but she soon introduced "fictional other", short form "f/o". It came from "significant other", and I remember it took off like wildfire with her closest friends and fans. I think that was around the same time she started calling her waifu chart the "sweetie squares". Even after she bailed Tumblr for Twitter, there were still people using it, and it just took off slowly from them.

Another came forward saying when they were 15, they were in a voice chat with Bunny and she spoke in a high pitched voice, belittling them like a toddler. A close friend of Bunny confirmed that she does these voices in voice chats even with adults present.

When I was 15 years old, one time in a VC Bunny did a high pitch voice where you talk to children. I thought it was weird when she could've talk to me normally.

So it's changed the way I view the character now.
Also can confirm that she has made a voice in VC. But for a while it didn't click that it would be around minors, because she'd do a similar one with adults. Still weird either way.

Bunny willingly joins discord servers if she is allowed to express what she wants to do to fictional characters she likes.

Art she made

Trigger Warning: NSFW including mentions of child p*rn, incest, sexual related fetishes and slight gore

Bunny candidly described herself as a woman in her mid 30's and that she went incognito from face reveals upon being doxxed and stalked. She dumped old artwork pieces exclusively to discord servers, though, where Disney fans used to hang out between 2019-2020. The server in question no longer exists, but inside a chat she shared an outdated commission sheet that had a username she went by before Bunny. Screenshot evidence of her posting the sheet is minimal, but a timestamp of the exact date when the sheets were downloaded are found. The name she went by was "Holden", along with a signature to that username near the bottom of the sheet. Below are the commission sheets she shared.

Reverse searching these images does not work as intended since Bunny purged early artwork off of the web. The pragmatic solution was looking up each said username including key terms such as artist, tumblr, plus commission. Results of the search lead to lolcow/kiwifarms threads on her. For context, these types of discussion boards cover specific people who do horrible actions and document and push harassment of notable internet figures themselves.

This is Bunny. At least - the part of her that she doesn't want you to see. Notice the similarities with lineart, coloring, writing, shading, carefully replicating art styles, and her concepts with self inserts. Almost all of her self inserts have dyed hair, piercings or involve a furry.

Suggestive pieces were posted on her @bunny_wars account. On the left, she drew the Park Hopper Ticket as a bodypillow in risqué poses. Anime fans are noted for clinging onto a bodypillow with an anime character that they favor. In this instance, body pillows are portrayed in a erotic manner. On the right, Buzzy is holding a pink thong with a single red heart in the center; blushing with a flustered expression. Bunny did a sketch of Captain Cortex, who is the early version of Buzzy pouring Dr. Pepper on his feet, showcasing a feet fetish. One more that she illustrated is the robot butler from Horizons attraction with chest hair with a seductive mien.

Her pattern proceeds where she made a piece of Judge Doom from the film Who Framed Roger Rabbit by holding her original character by the ears and hovering over cartoon dip while labeling him as “sexy”. The dip is a deadly chemical that permanently kills cartoon characters, associated by the term “toons” in the movie.

Bunny developed a google drive as an archive for Cranium Command information with folders organized into categories. Upon clicking the art folder, two sections are titled “Fanart” and “Official Art”. Inside “Fanart”, art is divided by over 10 different Cranium Command artists who she gives recognition to including her own segment, furthermore displaying more foot fetish.

The art that she uploaded on her main NSFW hasn't surfaced publicly yet. It is renowned by the fandom that she has drawn porn of Buzzy, General Knowledge, Captain Cortex, Judge Doom, and Ranger Woodlore. There is NSFW art that, when posted publicly, she exposed to a multitude of unsuspecting minors upon luring them with her "rare" SFW art. Numerous came forward with their encounter between her and how they were captivated with Nemu's art. She befriended and chatted with minors about not suitable topics for their ages. Victims discovered that she grew passionate over child p*rn art of underage fictional characters, vomit art, and engage with other folks who do near the same things or have identical interests like her.

It's not just that she's drawing it, there's minors around her that are her "friends" that see it. It's inappropriate and predatory to post those things when you know minors will see it.

it's also key to note how much she used to talk to minors about it.

I know that it's been said before, but I want to confirm what all other people that used to know her said.
I think she is a pedophile or at least has pedophilic tendencies. I used to know her from tumblr.
When I first began talking to her I had no idea how deep the rabbit hole went. That was when she used the URL ocdmrcrocker. She seemed very "wacky" and I knew about her obsession with Mr. Crocker (it was him at the time) and didn't know about her porn blog so I didn't think much of her weird behavior. I was underage at this time and was incredibly fascinated by her bizarre life.
When I found out about her NSFW art (I vividly remember pictures of Aloysius O'Hare shitting in a selfuku I think? And lots of lots of vomit art with Toad and underage characters) I was shocked and appalled. How could anyone post stuff like this and expect support for it?
She encouraged me to look at porn, the stuff she drew and share sexual fantasies with her. I was a minor and she was ~an adult lady~.
I became scared and blocked her, stopped talking to her. A few months later she was gone from tumblr - she claimed it was due to porn addiction and the likes but I honestly just think she was scared.
And after hearing all of the shit that's been posted in this thread, I think there were many more cases like this.
She is in no way going to ever better her ways. She's been "off the internet" for the past 5 years or so and she always comes back and returns to what she'd done before. Sick.

Quick Re

☐ Anonymous 7 years ago No. 642480 >>642487

I used to be friends with Nemu. We didn't talk every single day but we talked quite often and I think that fucked me up, considering I was a minor (this would've roughly been 4 - 5 years ago, maybe a bit less, I don't remember that clearly).

As someone who didn't have a great relationship with their mom, someone like Nemu was such a draw-in with how caring and ready to give attention she was. And someone else also mentioned you get drawn in to wanting to be like her - I experienced this too but not so bad.

I think when you like her you can ignore how overtly sexual and gross she is because she is just so nice. But when you're a kid you don't realise how much of it you actually take in. I cannot vomit from having too much alcohol without thinking about Nemu, instantly. I can't have someone mention vomit, pregnancy, whatever, without thinking of it as an inherently sexual thing.

These aren't even fetishes of mine, I don't find them to be sexual or arousing. But there is a constant, persistent, association of these gross things with her. I was happy being exposed to this sort of content at first because I think people should celebrate what they're into, but I think another anon mentioned that normalisation of THESE types of kinks to THIS extent to kids does no good whatsoever.

Nemu could do so much better and could reflect real deep on how she treats others, how her public image affects others, but the fact she chooses not to and her boyfriend nor friends don't try to help her move past it either is so disappointing and degrading to people who were like this that actually bothered to try to change how they were

I found this thread on accident and I can confirm that she had/has no sense of self restraint when talking to minors about sexual shit. i followed her when i was around 15-16 and i was really into astro boy, there were so few fans of the series on tumblr and i had found her through her rare SFW fanart, i wanted to be friends with her because we both liked relatively unpopular characters from the show. her freaky fetish shit didnt bother me all that much at the time because i didnt really care (i think i had blacklisted most of it with Xkit because she had the decency to TW tag from what i remember) but she had actually impacted me directly when i joined a livestream that she didn't disclose was NSFW on tumblr. she was drawing an nsfw commission for another pedophile that went by cheripie (?) of komaeda from danganronpa.

I remember nemu was making jokes about how its strange that she taught kids my age and told me she went an entire school day with a one piece character figure in her cleavage. cheripie had been giving me shit the entire time because all of my favorite male characters were "too femme" or something. someone else in chat made a comment about komaeda's butthole in the drawing and they all started talking about what their assholes looked like, nemu eventually asked me what color my asshole was and i told her that i didnt know and didnt want to know, cheripie tried bullying me into "pressing my ass against the mirror to see it" and i had left the stream after that. there's at least one other underage girl nemu had tried to groom for her fetishes by trying to convince the girl to get her nipples pierced, but i dont know the details (i do remember nemu having a weird nipple piercing fixation for a bit, i dont know if thats still going on or if she's grown out of that)

TL; DR: nemu thought nothing of a literal fifteen year old girl watching her draw porn and even joked that she taught 15 year olds at the time and tried to bully the 15 year old into talking about the color of her asshole, and nemu is friends(?) with several other tumblr pedophiles

Mabel is very young. Self explanatory.

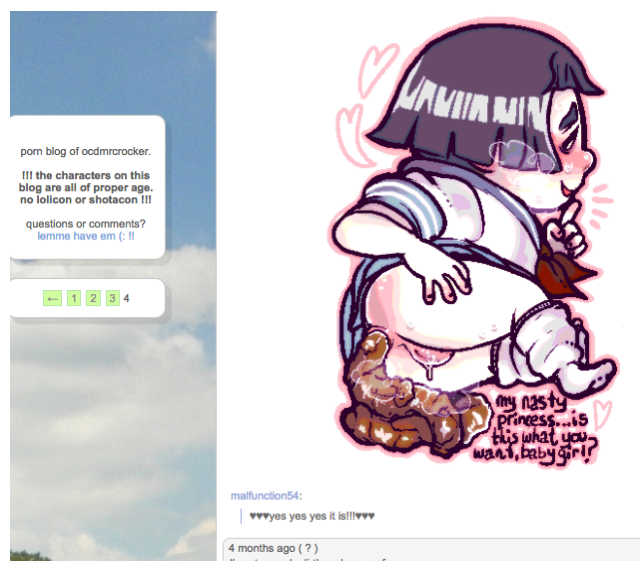

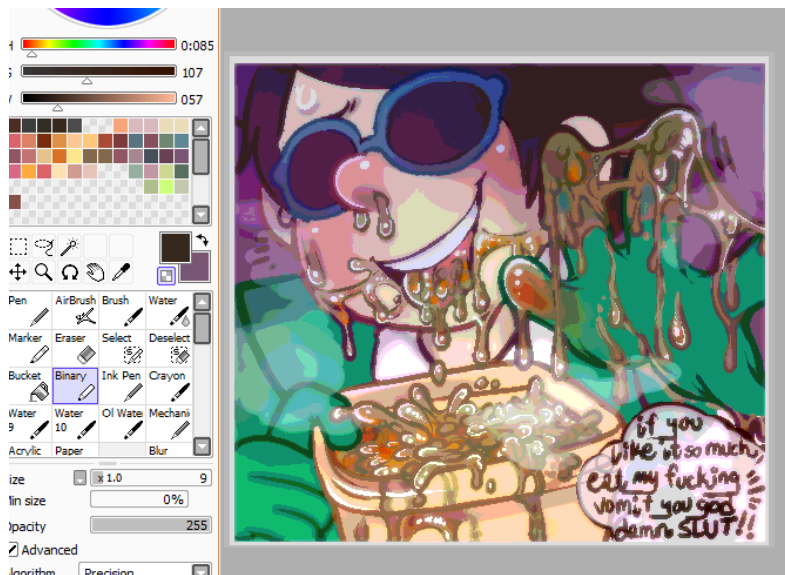

There was so much more I can't find in this thread anymore. She expressed relief at 13 being the age of consent in Japan and said that she didn't trust her or her boyfriend to have kids. If anyone can find those in this thread, link them. The thread is long but this proof should be compiled if her minions are going to come here and deny her pedophilic tendencies or danger to kids.

The word “Lolis” refers to a young or youthful looking girl in both Japanese anime and manga. Derived from the Tumblr blog hashtags, she interacted with posts that was incest p*rn of an underage character from Disney’s animated series, Gravity Falls.

Bunny's artstyle has adapted beyond the Disney aesthetic. Her distinctive style she drew as Nemu/Holden was transformed from what she uploaded as Bunny back in early 2019-2020, yet closer inspections protrude similarities. The way you can tell this is Bunny's art is the thick lineart, coloring, writing, and doodles.

These pieces have resemblance. The handwriting on the Buzzy art, along with the mini 4 panel Word Girl plus Chuck the Evil Sandwich Making Guy comic, are close based on the letter A, I, N, S and Y are written. The piece with Turbo tied up and Buzzy are the brilliant colored hues, the shading, and the drawn heart's appearance. There are several art creations sharing equivalent concepts.

Bunny made art of her self-inserts pregnant with a fictional character's child or having the character hold the child like with Buzzy, Woodlore, and with Mr. Crocker. The doodle of Dr. Two Brains from Word Girl doesn't follow the subject of pregnancy/holding a baby. Instead it is sexual because Dr. Two Brains is holding a sexual object - a vibrator. Onto the styles again, Dr. Two Brains and Buzzy doodles have bright, vibrant colors and the lineart is thick. The next one where Bunny is sitting on a chair with Mr. Crocker's Mom feeding her and Buzzy worrying about getting a girl pregnant is the way lines to indicate blushing are diagonal. The piece that is different from the rest is her and Woodlore whereas it looks soft, watercolor-like, pastel and bold, but the motif of the drawing is pregnancy like the other 3 above.

Buzzy is a young adult which was confirmed by Dave Pruiksma, the designer of Buzzy, yet he has child-like features throughout the pre-show and main show. In this post, Bunny shows her taste in fictional men. However there was one concerned user who replied to the post that they were unsure about Buzzy because of his youthful appearance. She acknowledges the character's child-like features with a drawing that she drew of Buzzy as a baby by clarifying that she didn't have to change up much from adult Buzzy.

Buzzy is an adult according to Dave Pruiksma, his designer.

Question: Buzzy is intended to be a very small adult in the cartoon, yeah? He has a child's voice in the show for some reason

 I always saw him as a small adult.

Wanted to draw baby Buzzy and then as I started I realized there's not a lot separating him from adult Buzzy LOL

Bunny made contradicting statements on how if she made furry porn, she could make money. Nevertheless, she did create furry porn. An example is her having sex with Mr. Krabs from Spongebob with her sona saying a phrase from the show, “Are you feeling it now, Mr. Krabs?” Another example is Foxy from Five Nights at Freddy’s with his dick out. Canonically, the Five Nights at Freddy’s animatronics are possessed by young kids throughout the series, murdered by a man named William Afton.

Why mention the art styles?

Christy's living involved creating art for decades, and what is noticeable is how she is capable to copy different art styles and alter her own. The skill of being able to replicate and modify her art has allowed her to escape from her past with time as Nemu/Holden/Malfunction54.

Using and Abusing Pt. 1

Another victim of Bunny opened up in an X thread statement on July 15th, 2018, going by the username @mommyxan. From what @mommyxan reveals, Bunny (referenced by her real life name Christy), falsely made up Xan being in an abusive relationship with her partner @maraganger; and then convinced Xan's friends to block her instead of taking time to check in. The friend group assumed she was being abused, but rather than proving Xan's partner innocent or supporting Xan, Bunny expected the group to drop contact and ignore her permanently. The friend group was full of adults that primarily focused on drawing child p*rn or hyperfixating over underage girls/fictional children characters according to the bottom of the thread.

Using and Abusing Pt. 2

@mommyxan breaks away from her thread on a separate post to discuss that nobody believed Xan and her partner were fine, but that they also never notified her of what Christy was telling her friends either until after the “abuse allegations” were rolling downhill. Lacking apathy, her friends only cared about the stuff Christy was telling them, in lieu of the truth, and a few of her mutuals eventually apologized for not reaching out sooner.

There are extra posts that Xan has replied to, yet we can not see what the posters have initially said because they have been deleted by “the post author.” She replied to someone named Rami, who she considers a close friend, implying that Rami was potentially affected by Christy’s involvement during the process. In a deleted tweet, Xan elucidates Christy got her friends to bully two users off the internet because they pointed out something about her that she did not like.

The next post that Xan replied to in context is uncertain, still Xan confirms the threads were accurate: how Christy’s clique will bully those who stand up for themselves and justifications why she doesn’t support, nor associate, with Christy.

This started because Xan went to visit Mara who lives in Canada, then Christy ruined Xan and her partners reputation over the visit. Xan reflects when a person sent her a drawing that Christy made describing as “dead to her”. Despite the person who sent it believing the art was based on a song to remember her, the song is actually a reference to “Dead to Me” by Melanie Martinez.

The lyrics and a URL to the song are underneath.

Lyrics:

My condolences

I'll shed a tear with your family

I'll open a bottle up

Pour a little bit out in your memory

I'll be at the wake dressed in all black

I'll call out your name but you won't call back

I'll hand a flower to your mother when I say goodbye

'Cause, baby, you're dead to me

I need to kill you

That's the only way to get you out of my head

Oh, I need to kill you

To silence all the sweet little things you said

I really want to kill you

Wipe you off the face of my earth

And bury your bracelet

Bury your bracelet

Six feet under the dirt

Rainy days and black umbrellas

Who's gonna save you now?

Can you cheat from underground?

My condolences

I'll shed a tear with your family

I'll open a bottle up

Pour a little bit out in your memory

I'll be at the wake dressed in all black

I'll call out your name but you won't call back

I'll hand a flower to your mother when I say goodbye

'Cause, baby, you're dead to me

(I'll mourn you when you go)

Baby you're dead to me

(I'll mourn you when you go)

I need to say sorry

That's the only thing you say when you lose someone

I used to say I'm sorry

For all of the stupid shit you've done
So now I'm really sorry
Sorry for being the apologetic one
But if I told you again, if I told you again
You would think I was crazy

My condolences
I'll shed a tear with your family
I'll open a bottle up, pour a little bit out in your memory
I'll be at the wake dressed in all black
I'll call out your name but you won't call back
I'll hand a flower to your mother when I say goodbye

'Cause, baby, you're dead to me
(I'll mourn you when you go)

And turns out the "big bad abuser" she was so afraid of, is literally calling Christy out too.

i used to know a friend who was close to nemu and she mentioned how nemu used to say the n-word and f...ot all the time in their private chats with no remorse because she thought those words were funny. nemu was also really jealous of xan for being in a relationship, basically hoping mara would dump her for being ugly and being dirty.

I was going to ask why the fuck Nemu would be jealous of a friend for being in a relationship when she herself's been in one for almost 10 years, but then I realized that it's Nemu we're talking about. No wonder she kins as a big fucking snake. That's exactly what she is.

The threads elaborate that Christy is not a caring friend, is jealous of her friend's relationship and how she labels herself as the victim so people can sympathize with her. Not only do these screenshots talk about what she did to Xan and Mara, they reveal a friend of theirs that used to be close to Christy claiming that she used offensive derogatory slurs towards black people and LGBTQ+ community in private chats because she thought they were funny. There aren't screenshots of her dropping slurs yet, so for now it is up in the air.

Lack of Credit for Findings

Bunny is highly praised in the Disney Twitter community for referencing obscure theme park characters in art as well as contributing to restore media for an Epcot attraction titled Cranium Command. Bunny claims she did all the legwork herself, but proofs state otherwise.

On September 30th, 2025, Bunny posted an X thread of moments at Retromagic and she announced that she was given a sticker handed out 2 years prior to the Wonders of Life's opening at Epcot. Well before she got the sticker, she posted pictures of it that were not hers uncredited whenever she talked about Captain Cortex.

The Bob Kurtz/Bob Dranko Captain Cortex from the 1990 animation looks so similar to this Captain Cortex sticker from 1987.... I feel like it can't be coincidence

This is an amazing artifact because that stamp is not of Buzzy-- that's Captain Cortex!! ✨

Where did Bunny find her media submissions? How did she get a hold of them? Turns out a person submitted it to her via private message and they wrote their friend discovered the sticker from an eBay listing, additionally adding the photo when the listing was live. The same individual also found a picture of a model figure for Captain Cortex and Bunny posted it with the link, but never gave credit on who sent it to her.

Here is a comparison to her sticker in contrast to the eBay listing sticker. The issue with this is that she didn't bother to ask the owner/purchaser who originally found the sticker for permission to post and went uncredited as well. Neither the private message sender nor owner were recognized for their contributions.

A third example of her not crediting is this picture of the Horizons butler. Although she shared the link, she didn't credit who uploaded the picture on Flickr. The owner, @BravaCentauri07, let Bunny know they captured the picture, but Bunny never added their handle in the comment section afterwards.

And finally, she grabs a mixture of Wonders of Life photos at night, a side-by-side comparison of Buzzy with a render of Captain Cortex, and a picture of the Goofy about Health attraction, but does not specify where the captures/uploads spawned. Now the fandom is suspicious of what else Bunny could've potentially uploaded without crediting, or what was taken from them that they aren't aware of.

Like. They didn't HAVE to scrap Cortex as a character, Cranium Command could have worked with Cortex! But someone had to decide "No.. this guy sucks too much... just obliterate him and use the bones for someone else"

merchandise

Bunny created professional design work for the Disney Parks in merchandise, primarily Walt Disney World, Disneyland, and Shanghai Disney. She can't indirectly say or show what she designed until the merchandise drops because it is under NDA. Outside of Disney, she contributes work for Defunctland, SeaWorld, RetroWDW and clients she has listed such as Ron Jon Surf Shop. Bunny even has a Teepublic shop page where she made unofficial merchandise of Wonders of Life, Cranium Command, and Epcot related works. Buying the merchandise supports her and allows her to increase opportunities.

Strongly Advised

It is advised that you avoid letting her approach conventions, theme parks, or any spaces with minors present as she poses a risk to safety due to the evidence discussed throughout this document. Bunny's reliability as a person is questionable and she shows no desire to change based on her online history patterns with befriending minors, doxxing an IP address over inspiration for her art, using a song with lyrics deemed alarming to say her friends are dead to her, and chasing users off online platforms such as Tumblr and X for calling out the behavior. Bunny avoids accountability by changing usernames and her artstyle to escape her controversies as Nemu/Holden/Malfunction54. It is recommended to block her if she reaches out to you and minimize contact as much as possible. Please do not harass the people who were included in the screenshots from X and Tumblr.

(It was him at the time) and didn't know about her porn blog so I didn't think much of her weird behavior. I was underage at this time and was incredibly fascinated by her bizarre art. When I found out about her NSFW art (I vividly remember pictures of Aloysius O'Hare sitting in a selfuku I think? And lots of lots of vomit art with Toad and underage characters) I was shocked and appalled. How could anyone post stuff like this and expect support for it? She encouraged me to look at porn, the stuff she drew and share sexual fantasies with her. I was a minor and she was ~an adult lady~. I became scared and blocked her, stopped talking to her. A few months later she was gone from tumblr - she claimed it was due to porn addiction and the likes but I honestly just think she was scared. And after hearing all of the shit that's been posted in this thread, I think there were many more cases like this. She is in no way going to ever better her ways. She's been "off the internet" for the past 5 years or so and she always comes back and returns to what she'd done before. Sick.
