I support a new comprehensive non-discrimination and retaliation policy for Chicago Public Schools. For the past 8 years, I have been unhappy with the treatment that I've received as an employee. Lately, I believe that it could be due to my gender and ethnicity. However, I am not accusing Chicago Public Schools of anything outright. I just think that Chicago Public Schools should be open to feedback about their policies.

We live in a world where male teachers have complained about having a difficult time gaining trust of students, parents, and colleagues. Therefore, it is imperative that our school system embraces them. We need diversity, equity, and inclusion in our workforce to provide the best educational experience possible for our scholars. Together, we can make a difference; divided, we will regress to a state of chaos.
