

RemoteIndian Mission and Values

Mission

Connect 1000 folks in India who have the freedom to work from anywhere. That would include remote workers, freelancers, work from home professionals and indie hackers in India.

RemoteIndian is a digital co-working space for folks in India who want to pursue a location independent lifestyle. This aim can be fulfilled by seeking remote jobs or freelance work or by owning a small business.

I truly believe that being able to work from anywhere will enrich your life in a big way. After all with the advent of the information age, our success is not necessarily dependent on our pincode 📍

Values

Peer learning

Create an environment which is conducive to supporting autonomous people who have different goals and take different actions.

Safe space

Create a space for conversations which don't happen in our society. Create a tribe which supports vulnerability and creativity. No room for trolls.

Give > Take

Let's not operate from a scarcity mindset. We are very privileged to be born in this internet age. So let's try to provide value to others in whatever way possible.

Expect more from ourselves

This community will surely help you to figure out how to file your taxes, get a remote job, get clients etc. But my hope is that we have also have some discourse on how we can provide more value to our local communities, sustainability etc. For eg. Can we start a computer club in our hometown ?

Meta community

We can help you to build career capital by advising you at the meta level. But if you need more actionable help, we want you to join relevant communities for taking the micro steps (for eg. ruby/reactjs/wordpress/indiehackers community)
