Easy Camping Food - What to Bring

If you are heading on a camping trip in the near future, you are going to want to bring some easy camping food along. Which will be the best camping food because it will not require a lot of time and effort to make? There are quite a few options when it comes to easy camping food that you could bring along with you, and here are a few ideas in particular that you may be interested in.

Camping Food

When it comes to easy camping food, you have almost limitless options. You can bring almost any food that you want, as long as you use common sense. The Hobo Dinner is one of the most popular camping recipes, one that even a child could make.

For this recipe you will need 4 medium potatoes peeled and sliced, ½ medium onion sliced or diced, 1 lb. ground chuck, ¼ cup water, salt and pepper to taste, and aluminum foil.

To prepare this dish, you will want to add water to the ground beef and then mix well. Now you add the potatoes, onion and seasoning, and mix again. Separate into about four servings, and wrap in aluminum foil, placing seam side up on medium hot grill for 40 minutes. Make sure that you rotate periodically, but do not flip. Open carefully and serve with ketchup.

Another great easy camping food recipe is called the Burger Boat. This is very quick and simple to make, and for it all you need is ground beef, barbecue sauce, onions finely chopped, potatoes finely chopped, and carrots finely chopped.

To prepare, lay out a square of aluminum foil, and take a handful of ground beef, shaping it into an oval. Now you make a well, or boat, in the middle of the ground beef, and spread about 1 tablespoon of barbecue sauce in the hamburger well. This will allow it to really soak into the hamburger meat and leave you with the most delicious taste.

Add in vegetables, salt and pepper, and wrap up and cook until the vegetables have reached the desired tenderness.

These are just a few of the most basic ideas when it comes to easy camping food, and if you want more great ideas, you can talk to your family members and friends, others who go camping and find out what they cook on their trips. Having food that is easy to prepare is crucial, so you can enjoy yourself more and not be cooking the whole time.
