

Before

After

These are prints that I made with linoleum. I had to carve a portrait of myself and create a print. this is the before and after of the process I went through. In the before print, there were many errors I had to fix especially around the facial area. In the after, I fixed all of the errors on the face and found some other things I wanted to work on.