

Chinese workers in France, supervised by Canadian railroad troops, are filling rail cars with earth to use to construct additional railroads. 1918. Source: IWM

Annamese (today's Vietnamese) soldiers in French service, the Marne, France. LOC, via The Atlantic. French official photo.

"During a march past of Indian troops, a woman pins flowers on to the tunic of one of the soldiers." Location: England. Source: Imperial War Museum.

Indian soldiers in British service during a gas drill on the Salonika front, Greece. Source: IWM, via Ottoman History Podcast

Tirailleurs Sénégalais, West African soldiers in French service, on the Western Front

Australian nurses in New Guinea, 1914. Source: Sea Power Center and State Library of NSW, via ABC News

Japanese siege gun brought up for the bombardment of Tsingtao (Qingdao), China in 1914. One of the detachment is receiving orders by telephone from the battery commander. Tsingtao was then a German port, under attack by the British and their allies, the Japanese. Source: Illustrated War News, 1914, via The Atlantic

Imperial Camel Corps (Australia, New Zealand, Britain, and India) in Palestine or Egypt.

Source: IWM

Indian soldiers in British service, in Mesopotamia with anti-aircraft gun, shooting at German-built airplanes.