Appliance Repair in West Hollywood, CA

After fixing appliances across West Hollywood for over a decade, we've found that most appliance issues can be solved with much less fuss — and money — than people think. Forget sky-high quotes; we get straight to the real problem at Everyday Appliance Repair.

Here's the deal: your washing machine floods the laundry room at midnight, or your fridge won't quit buzzing louder than Melrose traffic during rush hour — you need a local expert on the job, not a call center three area codes away. We've completed over 2,000 repairs right here in West Hollywood, and our office on Lexington Ave means we're genuinely neighbors, not some faceless operation dispatching from the Valley.

Despite what you'll read online, replacing an entire appliance often isn't necessary. That fancy oven might just need a new heating element instead of a full swap-out. A service call — we offer free estimates so you know costs upfront — is usually enough to keep your appliance running. On Hayworth Avenue alone, we've resurrected around two dozen dishwashers this year.

Clogged dishwasher drains, fridges running hot like an August afternoon on Fairfax — we've seen it all. Check out our full range of services, or find us on Google Maps to see exactly how close we are.

And sometimes things just break when you least expect them. Ain't that always the way?

What Most People Get Wrong About Appliance Repair

In our 15 years serving West Hollywood, the biggest mistake we see is people choosing the cheapest repair option and paying for it twice.

Here's a real example: a customer on Spaulding Avenue called us last spring after a different company replaced her dishwasher drain pump with a generic off-brand part for $120. Six weeks later, the pump seized, flooded her cabinet, and warped the hardwood floor underneath. By the time she called us for the second repair, she'd spent over $800 total — plus floor refinishing. A Bosch OEM pump from us would have run $220 and been done once.

The pattern repeats constantly. A Whirlpool motor replacement runs $450 for a genuine part and lasts years. That $150 knock-off from an unverified supplier fails inside 18 months. The initial savings evaporate fast.

At Everyday Appliance Repair, we use original manufacturer parts on every job — Bosch for Bosch, KitchenAid for KitchenAid, full stop. The table below shows what quality parts actually cost versus what budget alternatives typically run, and why the math favors spending once:

Component	Brand	OEM Part Cost	Generic Alternative	Our Recommendation
Dishwasher Drain Pump	Bosch	$200–$350	$90–$130	OEM — generics fail within 18 months
Washing Machine Motor	Whirlpool	$380–$450	$130–$180	OEM — 3–5 year lifespan difference
Oven Heating Element	KitchenAid	$100–$250	$40–$80	OEM — non-OEM elements run 15–20% cooler
Refrigerator Compressor	Sub-Zero	$400–$650	Not recommended	OEM only — voids Sub-Zero warranty otherwise

Short-term fixes burn through your wallet faster than you'd think. Spend once, spend right.

How Much Does Appliance Repair Cost in West Hollywood?

On average, appliance repair in West Hollywood runs between $150 and $400. The spread depends on what's broken and which brand is involved — Sub-Zero and Thermador parts carry a premium because the components are specialized and the supply chain is tighter.

A fridge that's not cooling properly typically lands between $200 and $500. A dryer heating element swap — one of our most common calls — runs $150 to $350 and takes about two hours from start to finish. Oven thermostat replacements sit at $100 to $300 and are usually same-day jobs; we're often in and out before you've finished lunch.

Appliance	Typical Cost Range	Usual Timeline	Common Issue
Refrigerator	$200–$500	Same-day or next-day	Compressor, thermostat, evaporator fan
Dryer	$150–$350	Same-day	Heating element, thermal fuse
Oven	$100–$300	Same-day	Thermostat, bake element
Dishwasher	$150–$400	Same-day or next-day	Drain pump, control board
Washing Machine	$200–$450	Same-day or next-day	Motor, lid switch, drain pump

Always ask for an upfront quote before any work starts. No honest repair company should have a problem giving you one. At Everyday Appliance Repair, every job starts with a free estimate — no hidden diagnostic fees tacked on at the end. Full pricing details are on our site.

What To Look For When Choosing a Repair Service

A big red flag: if a technician can't name specific parts they plan to use or won't show you certification credentials — walk away. In our experience across the Fairfax District and beyond, any reputable repair service will have no trouble answering direct questions about their qualifications.

Ask these four questions before you book anyone:

1. Are your technicians factory-trained or NASTeC-certified?
2. Do you use OEM parts or generic alternatives?
3. Can you show me recent Google or Yelp reviews from West Hollywood customers?
4. Do you offer same-day service and a written estimate before starting?

At Everyday Appliance Repair, our technicians hold NASTeC certification and have completed factory training on Viking and Thermador units — two brands that require specialized tooling most general repair shops don't carry. We've serviced over 300 Viking ranges alone since 2018.

Same-day availability matters too, especially around areas like Plummer Park and Melrose Avenue where residents are juggling packed schedules. Quick response means we respect your time as much as our own. According to Everyday Appliance Repair's internal scheduling data, 78% of our West Hollywood jobs are completed the same day the customer calls.

Don't be shy about pressing for specifics — it's your money and your appliance. Any tech worth hiring will welcome the questions.

How to Find Appliance Repair in West Hollywood

Everyday Appliance Repair is located at 7533 Lexington Ave #203 — about a 15-minute drive from downtown Los Angeles, and walking distance from the Sunset Strip. Find us on Google Maps here.

Our location between Fairfax and Santa Monica Blvd puts us within range of every West Hollywood neighborhood in under 20 minutes, which is how we consistently offer same-day service windows. We also cover Hollywood, Beverly Hills, and Silver Lake without charging extra travel fees for those areas.

We've worked in everything from classic mid-century homes in Hancock Park — where original 1960s appliance hookups sometimes require adapter work — to newer condo builds in Koreatown running all-electric kitchens. Every neighborhood has its quirks, and knowing those details ahead of time means we show up prepared instead of making a second trip for parts.

Unique Challenges of Appliance Repair in West Hollywood

After over a decade working in West Hollywood, a few things stand out that don't come up in other parts of Los Angeles.

The climate is the first one. West Hollywood averages 38 days above 90°F each summer, and that heat hammers refrigerator compressors harder than manufacturers account for in their standard ratings. We see a spike in fridge compressor calls every June through August — roughly 40% more refrigerator jobs in Q3 than any other quarter. The fix isn't complicated, but ignoring early warning signs like a compressor running more than 80% of the time means a $250 repair becomes a $600 one. Check your fridge's condenser coils every spring — especially before the heat kicks in on the Sunset Strip side of town.

The second challenge is West Hollywood's historic preservation guidelines. Many properties — particularly in the West Hollywood Design District and along Fountain Avenue — fall under specific municipal codes that govern how appliances can be updated or replaced. In some cases, swapping a built-in unit for a different model requires a permit, and HOA rules can add another layer on top of that. We've navigated these situations dozens of times. Keeping an older Sub-Zero or Viking running is almost always faster and cheaper than clearing the paperwork for a replacement.

Local event schedules matter too. Street closures for the annual events along Santa Monica Blvd or Melrose can affect our routing. We track the city calendar and adjust service windows accordingly so we're not promising a 10am arrival during a road closure.

Frequently Asked Questions

What appliance brands does Everyday Appliance Repair service in West Hollywood?

We've tackled everything from budget Amana units to Sub-Zero built-ins. Our technicians are trained on Maytag, Whirlpool, Kenmore, Miele, Bosch, Viking, and Thermador. If it's in your kitchen or laundry room, we can almost certainly fix it.

How much does appliance repair cost in West Hollywood?

Budget $150 to $400 for most repairs. Sub-Zero and Thermador jobs often run higher — $400 to $700 — because the parts carry a premium and require specialized handling. At Everyday Appliance Repair, you get an upfront written estimate before we touch anything.

Do you offer same-day appliance repair in West Hollywood?

Yes. Same-day and next-day service are standard for West Hollywood customers. Call us at (323) 364-0193 and we'll tell you our next available window — usually within four hours during weekdays.

Is it worth repairing an old appliance or buying new?

Our rule of thumb: if the repair costs less than 50% of a replacement unit's price and the appliance is under 10 years old, repair is the smarter move. High-end brands like Viking and Thermador are worth repairing even past the 10-year mark — they're built to run 20-plus years with proper service. A $300 repair on a $4,000 range is an easy call.
