Literal 12/23/2020
I see no reason to do that

Sweet VictoryRight Kelvin 12/23/2020
So are we gonna charge Jont and jword with the same thing then?

No

Why

k. Well on the matter of the first question about AG i've already responded to you in detail and with multiple other people you continuously try to bash this question because its that matter of you guys wanting to sew havoc. But none the less I'll explain what happened with Xvill. The party agreed they'd appoint Xvill which i had little decision in since I was planning other things so i listened to the party of which you've already talked ample with Stalin about and how much xvill was interested in interacting with law and sim dem again now i do take some partial blame for this but this was a fault from overall government. 2nd my qualms with xtreme i've had a few minor problems in the past 1 with sueing people that were threatening harm he would refuse under the order of it would hurt their mental health although i think threatening harm is also quite bad but that's up to you guys to decide. we've also had problems with cases when i asked xtreme to drop the glorified charge on mooklyn he refused to disobeying my order. I for one will not tolerate disobedience in my government especially on the level of that. I am going to run my government efficiently and effectively you may not like it but it will work. 3rd and final i did not

My apologies, Mr. Kelvin agreed to take the lead on this, and as such he probably should have reached out here, although I do believe he may be engaged with him, we can't really schedule anything unfortunately. My apologies again (edited)
