Mr Karel Komarek's stance towards the current Russian aggression in Ukraine dated 24.2.2022:

I strongly condemn the act of war which Vladimir Putin and the Russian Federation have undertaken. The European Union and NATO must show unity against this unprovoked aggression, and we must protect the democratic values upon which our societies were built.

I am confident that world powers and all democratic nations will impose the strongest possible sanctions on Russia. If we can achieve this, we will successfully show Vladimir Putin that senseless acts of war have no place here, or anywhere else.

February 24, 2022, is not just a date when war began in Europe. It is also a date that signifies the beginning of the end of Vladimir Putin's era. We cannot allow the loss of civilian life as a consequence of this senseless decision. I extend my full support to the people of Ukraine at this perilous time.

Karel Komárek
