

Single Biggest Mistake Busy Modern Women Make Before Going on a Date

It's not the follow up to check if he's coming for the date. It's not arriving at the venue before the agreed time (although that's very important). It's actually something we do everyday on a daily basis but we don't think of it as a highly attractive trait.

One major thing guys notice when seeing a girl is noticing her feminine features. Looking for her feminine nature. Which of her feminine features stand out the most? Does she treat herself like a woman who carries herself well? Do you know why Men look for this in women? Because they're not trying to date someone who acts or dresses like a man. They are looking for a woman and you want to be that woman.

Women are naturally very clean and organised compared to men and that noticeable difference is what actually attracts them to you. Opposites attract, just because men are not the most clean people doesn't mean they want a dirty woman. An example of this same double standard is how women are submissive but want a man with authority.

If you live in an area with a hot climate or might be going to a venue that's known to be hot and humid. My best advice is to always walk around with your sanitary kit for two reasons.

1. You always want to stay smelling fresh and clean. For yourself first and foremost. Secondly because first impressions matter to whoever you meet. Professionally, socially, casually especially romantically you want to set a good impression.
2. Men will treat you according to your appearance. A woman that looks grungy, smells bad and is overall unappealing will repel men away. But a lady that dresses well, smells fresh and puts effort into her appearance will be treated like a princess by men who adore her.

These Are 3 Essentials For Every Pretty Woman's Purse

1. Perfume

It has been proven that people show favour to people with a good scent and it can even be attractive. You also don't want to smell like sweat wherever you go. It leaves a bad image to people who are just meeting you. Perfume isn't just for smelling good. It has so many benefits such as it can be used as an aphrodisiac which can cure headaches and trigger memories.

2. Sanitary Pads

This is a no brainer for the ladies. It might even not be for you, what if a friend needs it? Rather be safe than sorry. We all remember the horrible day we needed one but didn't have one. If you're not trying to go through that again, highly advise you carry at least one sanitary pad.

3. Intimate Wipes For Women

For women, in particular, if you workout or you wear tight clothing that restricts airflow. You'll begin sweating, now you don't want to be using a general product like wet wipes on your privates because, what if it causes itching or a random reaction.

Wet wipes are simply not made for that delicate use. However, this product is specially made for your delicate private parts that you don't want to offset with the hot atmospheric conditions or wrong chemical solution.

Intimate Hygiene Wipes solves all your intimate problems it helps remove:

- Bad odour
- Sweat
- Dirt (Bacteria)
- Prevents build up of Fungi

Unlike the common hand sanitizer it contains 0% alcohol and paraben. Made with Tea tree oil known for antifungal, anti-inflammatory and anti-bacterial effects. This is an essential, especially with your sexual partner to avoid spreading any bacteria or STI's between each other.
