ARCANA

Patron Card:

Ability:

1. What, in it's most basic form, is the ability of your character?

2. What Arcana does it best fit under and why?

(Do note Arcanas are just the Agency's way of sorting its members into sections for easier management, as such things can be somewhat fluid and not completely line up, but do try to keep within the set concepts.)

3. What practical uses does your character's ability provide?

(Or in other words, why would the agency recruit them specifically? Do note that not every character is going to be on the front lines fighting! Reconnaissance, interacting, and getting information from people, providing support for other vassals in either healing or supplies/technology, etc. are all necessary roles in the agency that also need to be filled!)

4. What are the downsides/negative effects that come with this ability?

(What limitations do they have? Does overuse or even perhaps underuse result in something?)

5. Mechanically, how do you think this would work within RP?

(Whereas, a Chariot Arcana with advanced strength would most likely either have a large stat boost to strength or have advantage on strength-based rolls; if your ability concept isn't necessarily as simple as that what would it involve ooc to work ic?)
