

WHAT INVENTIONS WOULD I LIKE TO SEE IN MY LIFETIME?

When I hear the word 'Invention' in my daily routine life, so many things come in my mind thinking about the various new things can be invented and how world can be easy place to live.

But I would like to some of the best inventions I would like to see in my near future that is VOICE COMMAND AUTOMATIC PRINTER that can be accessed by our voice. Commands can be typed, sketched or can find some pictures from google by itself and paste it on the paper according to our needs. This would be greatest inventions because nowadays there are so many people who doesn't know how to adjust the page, how to adjust the content, how to find the information form internet they have to always depend on others for help. For that kind of population this invention can be a boon for them, it is also useful for the kids too as nowadays they have to prepare many projects and presentations and Printing contents is always a challenge for the parents, this can save their time much and they can spend their time more on the content and knowledge side. Parents and children can easily guide the printer what exactly they want and it can process itself and give the best result out of it without any confusion and difficulties.

Another invention I like to see that would be HANDY WIRELESS PROJECTOR with support stand. By this invention we can save our content in pen drive, Memory card or hard drive and that can be projected in any plane surface or wall. Now it becomes very difficult to set up and projector and show the content, we should have the table, all wire connection should be proper, adjust the projector screen again and again, this all activities are very time consuming and if the projector is not set properly the content can't be viewed in the desired manner. By this invention there would be no worry to set the projector find the proper place with the wire connection, only insert any of the device and keep with the support stand provided by this you can easily view the content without any disturbance.

Now, let's talk about another invention that is SWEAT FREE COTTON FABRIC. That can be used to make shirts and t-shirts. Sweating Nowadays is a very big issue for many of the population, like for office going staff it become very difficult for them for wearing plane and light-coloured shirts while travelling, there are nylon fabric available to soak the sweat and drying quickly but nylon cloth is only suitable for the sport activities. When normal cotton fabric is having this quality of sweat free then many of the people can wear any coloured or plain shirt or t-shirt that will not soak the sweat and it is not visible and germs spreading by the sweat would also be reduced by this type of the invention.

My another dream last but not the least invention LANGUAGE TRANSLATOR GADGET. According to me this gadget would be dream of many of the people to be invented and be in use, because we are living in our country or any of the country we will find people of many different culture and language so it is not possible to learn every language of the world by the human being then this gadget would record the voice of the following person and by click of the button it will translate in the language than can be understood by us, we can feed all languages which are been spoken in the world in that gadget, it would become very easy for all to communicate and being familiar with them, by this gadget we can understand and communicate the languages by recording it and by the help of the speaker it would be translated automatically. So, no one would be dependent on each other and even no need of any person which help in translation.

So, this are all my dream inventions that I would like to be invented in my near future for the betterment of the world. I hope from this all invention any of them would be invented.
