

SL: Leonard, Let's Work Together to Help More People

Hey Leonard,

I love the fact that you “provide hope to the hopeless.” Your one-on-one evaluations with people brings them hope that they can recover from their problems. Whether they're mental or physical problems.

It's rare to come across people who are genuinely willing to help people change their lives for the better. Which is why I want to help you impact more lives and grow your business.

I noticed that your newsletter page could be better and you could expand on your Facebook posts. Your Facebook posts have a lot of potential to guide people to purchasing your services.

As an example, I attached an improved version of your landing page you have on your website. If you want, I could also send a Facebook promotion/ad that you could also use.

I am positive this will help you direct more people towards your excellent services.

If you want to discuss working together further, let me know and we can hop on a call to discuss the other opportunities.

Best regards,

Nicholas
