

Guidelines for Review of Research Manuscript

Manuscript ID. No: _____

Reviewer Name: _____

Section	Yes	No	Comments/ Suggested Revisions (Line-wise)
Title - Title is accurate, specific and clearly reflects the proposed research study - Title length (≤ 12 words)
Abstract - Structured up to 250 words - Objectives clearly stated - Study design (main and sub type specified) - Place and duration of the study mentioned - Material and methods summarised - Results presented clearly - Conclusion provided (no recommendations) - Key words (3-5)
Introduction - The issue is described clearly and corresponds to the current state of knowledge. - The research question and objectives are clearly stated and are relevant to the study design (e.g., the process of clinical and pedagogical decision making)
Methods - The context of the study is clearly described (e.g., setting in which the study takes place, bias). - The method is appropriate for the research question (e. g. which one is used first and why and what their sub types are.). - The selection of participants is appropriate to the research question and to the method selected (e.g., key participants, sampling, sample size and its calculation, deviant cases). - The process for collecting data is clear and relevant - Data analysis is credible - Treatment of uncertainties is appropriate

Section	Yes	No	Comments/ Suggested Revisions (Line-wise)
Ethical Considerations • Ethics of research have been followed properly. • IRB / ERC Approval mentioned in text and letter submitted. • Conflict of interest declared
Results • The main results are presented clearly.
Discussion • The results are interpreted in credible and innovative ways • The limitations of the study are presented (e.g., transferability).
Conclusion • The conclusion presents a synthesis of the study and proposes avenues for further research.
Referencing • APA (7th edition) formatting and referencing followed. • International and national literature of the past 05 years preceding manuscript submission cited
English Language and Presentation • Is manuscript free from spelling, grammar and language errors?
Any Confidential Comments to the Editor			