CHADScast

Charlie Kirk: Part 2

The Biggest Funeral Ever?

00:00

Nick

Hey ya'll, welcome to the CHADScast.

00:02

Logan

Oh, when are you gonna tell me you press play?

00:05

Nick

We're back.

00:07

Logan

You press record without my knowledge?

00:10

Nick

Without your knowledge? Yeah.

00:13

Logan

Oh, gosh. You just never know what you're gonna get with Nick, guys. I'll just tell you that right now.

00:17

Nick

And I recorded a episode by myself last week that I don't think we'll ever see the light of day.

00:24

Logan

Give me a broad overview.

00:26

Nick

It was about how dangerous California is. But imagine me on, like, four ADHD mode, laughing with nobody else in the room.

00:35

Logan

It's so dangerous.

00:36

Nick

Yeah.

00:37

Logan

I mean, to be fair, you've. You've gone over that topic ad nauseam, haven't you?

00:42

Nick

Yeah, probably.

00:43

Logan

Ad nauseam is a good Latin.

00:44

Nick

Is it? How do you spell that?

00:47

Logan

Ad space. N A, U, S--

00:58

Nick

I. Oh, no. N A, U.

01:04

Logan

N, A, U, S, I think E, A, M. Ad nauseam.

Nick

E, U, M.

Logan

E A M.

01:11

Nick

E, A, M. Ad nauseam. Does it mean it makes you nauseous?

01:14

Logan

Yes. Like, you do it to a point that you're. That you feel sick.

01:18

Nick

Good. Good vocab there, Logan.

01:20

Logan

Come on, man. That's like high school right there. That's--

01:23

Nick

Dude, I don't think I learned anything in my high schools because they were in Berkeley. Dude, I don't know if I told you this, but we had. Do you remember, like, after 9/11, we had the. Do you know what the Northern alliance is? It's like the. The enemies of Al Qaeda. It's like another terrorist faction. They literally came to our school. Like, terrorists came to our school to give us, like, seminars and

Logan

To give you a lecture.

Nick

Yeah, yeah, dude, we didn't learn. There was no, like, the. Like. Did you have diversity studies in your school?

01:57

Logan

No.

01:58

Nick

Yeah, yeah. I mean, we had diversity.

01:59

Logan

I had it in college.

02:00

Nick

Where it was like, you know, black people can't be racist type of--

Logan

Lectures.

Nick

Yeah, yeah.

02:08

Logan

I did spell it. Right. All right. I was just making sure. Ad nauseam. Anyway. Yeah. So you didn't learn anything in high school because terrorists. That's your excuse?

02:16

Nick

No, it was just not a traditional education.

02:17

Logan

It's a pretty good excuse. Excuse.

02:19

Nick

Yeah. Because the terrorist. Yeah, yeah, it is a good excuse. Speaking of terrorism. Yeah, yeah, let's get back into that Charlie Kirk topic.

02:28

Logan

Well, they just had his funeral. By the time of this recording.

02:31

Nick

It was a literal Nazi rally. I don't know if you saw it, but that's what. That's what all the tweets are saying. Yeah.

02:38

Logan

Oh, man. Yeah, yeah. So they just had his funeral. I think 200,000 people like fit in the area that they were doing it, but even more were around, and however many people were, I think there was, I don't know, double digits in the millions of--of streams happening. There was like an insane amount of streams people viewing online, and I think it's. I listened to a guy say that it was the only people that drew that kind of crowd prior was like Martin Luther King or JFK, which is.

03:23

Nick

Blasphemous in America to compare Charlie Kirk to Martin Luther King.

03:27

Logan

But that's what they'd say, right?

03:29

Nick

Yeah, that's what they'd say, right? Yeah, yeah.

03:31

Logan

But you made me lose my train of thought there. But, but yeah. So that is to say because of the way the world is now, you know, the funerals that Martin Luther King had and JFK, like people had to attend themselves. There was no live stream. So really, the amount of people that probably didn't go because they were going to watch it on a stream is probably even more so, in a sense, he probably. It's probably the biggest funeral that's ever happened.

04:07

Nick

Really?

04:08

Logan

That, that's just my opinion. I wouldn't know the exact numbers, but it's probably the, in terms of people viewing it, you know, physically there and people viewing it as it happens, that's pro. It's people coming from other countries and--

04:23

Nick

Yeah.

04:23

Logan

And to go. So it's probably the biggest funeral that's literally ever happened in the U.S. it's pretty crazy. It's more than Elvis, you know, it's more than Muhammad Ali. It's more than.

04:35

Nick

It was interesting. I saw a clip of Tucker Carlson. I don't know if he. No, it wasn't at his funeral. It was him doing the Charlie Kirk show. But he was talking about going to Asia cuz he just gone to Japan before, like a week before he got shot. You, you know this. Yeah, yeah. He went to Korea and Japan, and Korea is very Christian. So, it's like--

04:56

Logan
Kirk did.

04:57

Nick
Yeah.

04:57

Logan
Yes.

04:58

Nick
Yeah. So you know, Charlie Kirk was Christian and most of Korea is Christian, right?

05:05

Logan
Yeah, there are a lot of Christians there.

05:07

Nick
Yeah, so it was like really easy to like get through there. But here apparently, you know, at the whatever talk he was at, like by the end of his speech, just like only two people were clapping apparently. Yeah, yeah. Like it just didn't get like it didn't translate. It's pretty interesting.

05:22

Logan
Well, I think there's a, there's a decent support for him here. There was.

05:28

Nick
Yeah, yeah, for sure, for sure.

05:31

Logan
But yeah, wild. Wild. I mean, I don't know. It's. It's hard to believe that if Charlie Kirk is the evil thing that a lot of certain media will say or people are saying on Twitter, did he really either fool that many people? You know, if you just go by the 200, 000 that are at his funeral, did you really fool them or are they also just as evil? You know? Well, it's.

06:02

Nick

There's a Japanese.

06:03

Logan

Just doesn't make sense.

06:04

Nick

There's a Japanese show called Abema, which is basically the most popular talk show now in Japan on YouTube and it's from a very left-leaning company. And dude, it was. I couldn't believe it. Actually, I actually, I think I mentioned it somewhere on a YouTube video, but they had an expert on American politics on the show as well as some bitch with, you know, some. She's older, and she had like blue contact lenses in. Anyway, dude, the guy who's the university professor who was talking about Charlie Kirk was like, yeah, most Americans didn't know who Charlie Kirk was. And I was like--

06:48

Logan

That is insane.

06:50

Nick

A=The fuck are you talking. Everybody had heard of Charlie Kirk.

06:54

Logan

Yeah.

06:54

Nick

Like, you might not have known what he was talking about, but you knew the name Charlie Kirk. And then the woman, instead of concentrating on the fact that he got shot, she was like, he was really cruel for setting college students up and making them look dumb. Like that was her argument. Because he would go around to colleges.

07:12

Logan

Yeah.

07:13

Nick

But it's. He never forced anybody to step up and talk.

07:16

Logan

Yeah. It wasn't a setup.

07:18

Nick

It was not a setup. It was people trying to argue with him and they just couldn't argue with him.

07:23

Logan

Yeah.

07:24

Nick

Like, what a horrible take.

07:26

Logan

Yeah. Poor kids.

07:28

Nick

I mean. Yeah, well, I mean, basically, she was like, he was inciting hate. I got comments on my YouTube saying that hate is what killed him. Like it was.

07:37

Logan

Well, you're right about that, but it wasn't from him. I know. Well, that's insane. It's like. So you're forgetting about the person who actually shot Charlie Kirk. Yeah, yeah, it's weird. It's. How can Charlie Kirk be the extremist you say? How can you say that knowing that an extremist shot him? What if Charlie Kirk is an extremist? What does it make the person who shot him like an ultra extremist? Like--

08:09

Nick

Well, the other thing is. What is the other thing? There is another thing. I just don't.

08:12

Logan

There's all kinds of things.

08:13

Nick

Oh, I was gonna say just to remove this topic from Japan, dude, I really. I lost my train of thought.

08:22

Logan

You brain farted, dude.

08:23

Nick

Yeah, I brain farted. That's a good one. I think we've talked about that before. Yeah. Brain fart. Yeah, it's crazy. Just. It took about a week for the demons to come out of the woodwork and show their.

08:37

Logan

A week. I mean, it took less than 24.

08:40

Nick

Hours, but, I mean, now it's like crazy. Crazy big. Yeah. Yeah.

08:45

Logan

Right. Well, yeah, probably people are more comfortable now to start talking shit.

08:50

Nick

It's really funny because, you know Jimmy Kimmel.

08:53

Logan

Yeah. Has been fired.

08:55

Nick

Yeah, yeah. No, he's back. Oh.

08:57

Logan

Yeah.

08:57

Nick

He got reinstated today. They had a. A constructive talk or something like that.

Conspiracies, Forgiveness, and Faith

09:01

Logan

I bet they did.

09:02

Nick

But, dude, I even. I don't even know what he said.

09:06

Logan

Yeah, I don't know. I. I think I saw the clip. I can't remember it.

09:09

Nick

I actually don't give a fuck what he said, and I don't think he should be fired for anything that he said. But he just sucks.

09:14

Logan

He's just unfunny.

09:15

Nick

Yeah, yeah, he sucks. He cries.

09:18

Logan

He hasn't been funny and, like, he's never been funny, really.

09:21

Nick

He sucks.

09:22

Logan

Yeah.

09:23

Nick

I mean, he's just not funny.

09:24

Logan

But he's a good dog. So I think he, you know, people, they keep him on TV because he's a good dog for the--

09:31

Nick

Media.

09:33

Logan

For the media corporations. He's a corporate dog. And yeah, it's. It's funny because it's always people like Kimmel that are often, like, trying to hide that fact. They're trying to say, you know, I'm sure he would say something like, tax the rich or some--like that. Right. But that's the rich. Yeah, but, yeah, Kimmel, you're the rich guy.

09:59

Nick

Yeah.

10:00

Logan

You know, like. But I'm sure he's in favor of it. Right?

10:02

Nick

I remember what I was gonna say. One thing was that, you know, his good friend Candace Owens and some other people have been kind of. They're not conspiracies, but they're kind of pointing to certain things. You know what I'm talking about?

10:18

Logan

Yeah, yeah.

10:19

Nick

And it's--I mean, it makes me wonder because people criticize, you know, people who loved Charlie Kirk are criticizing Candace Owens. She's saying Israel. I don't think she's saying Netanyahu or Israel tried to assassinate him, but they kind of try to connect this type of thing.

10:37

Logan

They're implying a whole lot. They're not. But then they will always have the caveat. Oh, I actually didn't say that.

10:44

Nick

Yeah. Yeah. So, dude, I've been wondering--

10:46

Logan

Caveat is a good word.

10:47

Nick

Caveat is a good word. I mean, how much is she wrong about, and how much is she just a good talker?

10:56

Logan

Dude, it's really hard to--to gauge. She's done some weird things with her--the way she puts out information, she puts it behind paywalls and stuff. And you're wondering, like, why would you do that if you really want the truth to get out there, you know? So I don't know.

11:17

Nick

It's kind of annoying, honestly.

11:19

Logan

But. But the whole idea anyway, because, you know, I know a lot of people are buying in. In the US, right now. They're buying into an idea that, oh, maybe it has something to do with Charlie, like, criticizing Israel. Right. And the easiest way to debunk that idea is to look at the reactions of the people celebrating when Charlie Kirk died. That's evidence enough for me that you did. You don't need a whole other country involved to kill Charlie. People wanted him dead.

12:06

Logan

They want those types of people dead, and that's what they did. So they. You don't need Israel to do that. There's. There, there's proof enough in these people celebrating, laughing, dancing, ruining the vigils for him. Like, people were holding vigils around the country and people were basically stepping on, you know, the vigils or causing a problem around the vigils, saying,

Charlie Kirk sucks or fuck Charlie Kirk and all this stuff while these people are trying to mourn.
You don't need Israel. That's. That's real. That's in America.

12:45

Nick

And it's right in front of your face.

12:47

Logan

Yeah. So you don't--you don't need a whole other country to make that happen.

12:51

Nick

Yeah, I mean, I--I'm starting to wonder about her more and more.

12:55

Logan

Yeah.

12:57

Nick

Kind of a shame because she's obviously a high-IQ person, you know, I mean. Bu--

13:03

Logan

Is it? I mean, it could be she or she just, like, it's really hard to say. She's a great talker.

13:09

Nick

Well, yeah, but the. You know, a lot of people have. Actually, this is an interesting topic we can move on to. People have been speaking of the woke-right.

13:18

Logan

I. Yeah, I thought that.

13:19

Nick

Yeah.

13:20

Logan

Like, I heard that, like maybe even a year ago.

13:23

Nick

I know. But now it's like a--I think since this has become a big thing, and I think a lot of people, because they were talking about her with it is,--

13:31

Nick

Once you get so extreme on one topic,--

13:34

Nick

Your listeners are so invested in whatever conspiracy theory or, like, extreme point of view that you're saying that you just can't stop. All your content ends up having to, like, weave in, you know?

13:51

Logan

Yeah. Well, and the danger of everything that she goes on about, and even Tucker, to a certain extent, is that we need some receipts that you're. That you're being proved right. And until, you know, we don't see that yet with anything that she talks about. So that's a--that's another thing that's missing from the whole thing. It's. Yeah, it's fine. You're just talking about ideas, but you are implying a whole lot. You're implying that it's real. But what is it that you have receipts on that you were actually correct on what happened? And that's--

14:31

Nick

And not just that, because, you know, and I'm not saying she's doing this because I don't know. But it's using his death basically to--to keep your content flowing. Right?

14:44

Logan

Yeah. I mean, that's a weird one, too. I mean, and at a certain level, I understand it. I mean, of course she was really good friends with him. I mean, they. They grew up in politics together. They were--she's not just some distant.

14:57

Nick

Yeah.

14:57

Logan

Acquaintance of his. They were very close. So I understand why she's like, you know, the, you know, being all, like, what would you say? Fire branded about all this? Like, she's the. She's, you know, not letting it go. But at the same time, it is kind of weird that you're gonna loop in your best friend's death for--to confirm certain ideas on Israel that you have, you know?

15:32

Nick

Yeah.

15:33

Logan

In a certain way. I mean, she's never said that. She's never said that, but it's very heavily implied.

15:39

Nick

Well, dude, I'm sorry, but, you know, she's the one that. I don't know. We've talked about this, guys, that Bridget McCrone is actually a man and it discredits her other. It makes you wonder, like, I mean.

15:52

Logan

Well, that's what I'm saying. We're waiting for her to be proven right. And when are you going to be proven right?

15:57

Nick

Yeah.

15:57

Logan

You know, and--

15:58

Nick

I mean, it is weird that Bridget McCrone still hasn't proven--

16:02

Logan

That is. Well, that's what. That's what keeps it going, is that we don't have any definitive proof that she's wrong either. You know, that Candace is wrong. But at the same time, I don't know, it's just kind of. You can only go so far with that stuff before it's like, all right, we're still going on with this, and, okay, Bridget McCrone's a man. Okay, so how do I pay rent this month? You know, like, you. What does that change for us? Technically, nothing. Although I think it would be good to know. I'm just saying, you know, there's certain things that we'll never get to know. You know,

Maybe that's one of them. Yeah, but. And so, yeah, we can only walk down those paths for so long before it's like, all right, we need to actually be productive and not--

Nick

Just one last question--

17:00

Logan

Well, no, wait. Isn't that the key to this whole thing is that we need to actually be productive and not just barking at the ankles of. Of those--you know, like--

17:11

Nick

Yeah, yeah. I mean. Yeah, but that's what I was gonna ask. Do you think this will actually do it? Like, do you think, like. It doesn't seem like it's quite. It's united some people that, like, some extent, but do you think this will wake people up? Or no?

17:24

Logan

You mean Charlie?

17:25

Nick

Yeah.

17:25

Logan

Oh, 100%.

17:26

Nick

You think so?

17:27

Logan

I think I. I have to admit I even felt that I wanted to go to church again.

17:35

Nick

Yeah, yeah.

17:36

Logan

In the few days after that. I'm sorry, I don't think that'll happen. But I--I can admit that I felt kind of some kind of spiritual resonance.

Nick
Really?

Logan
Yes, in a sense. Well, I think it is a spiritual thing, whether. Whether you know, believe in God or whatever. It doesn't even have to be about God. It's just this human spirit that I felt from that. Yeah, yeah.

18:05
Nick
No, I felt that. I mean, I think we all felt the sadness. I guess it's just because I don't really have a Christian background or anything like that. You know, I've never been to church, so it wasn't like--

18:18
Logan
Yeah, well, I don't know. I mean, I just thought that. Yeah. I don't know. I think the whole thing was. I think it did wake up a lot of people in a good way in the--in terms of, you know, what. What was bringing people back to a fundamental way of living, which is, you know, family and--and, you know. Yeah. A belief in God. I mean, Charlie Kirk was a Christian man, which, his wife, at the funeral, because of her Christian beliefs, said, I forgive the man who shot my husband. I forgive the man who killed Charlie. I don't want his blood on my hands. I would ask that. He does not get the death penalty.

19:03
Nick
That's what she said?

19:04
Logan
Yes.

19:06
Nick
No way. I don't believe that.

19:06
Logan
She didn't say that at the speech. She forgave him at her.

19:11

Nick

Yeah, but not the death penalty.

19:13

Logan

The death penalty thing. Apparently, she told to her lawyers that she does not. No, she did say. She did say the specific quote is, I do not want his blood on my ledger. Which means when you meet God in their, you know, in their view, and they meet God, like it's a. Basically a slang way to refer to your life's events. Right? And she doesn't want that guy's death to be a part of her life's events. And being Christian, she probably still thinks there's hope for that guy. And so you're going to tell me that a bunch of people acting like that is going to be a bad thing? I mean, of course.

20:00

Nick

A bunch of people acting like her, you mean.

20:02

Logan

Yeah.

20:03

Nick

I don't know. I. For me, I kill him. Right. Like, if you could give me a gun, I just do it right now. Seriously.

20:10

Logan

I know.

20:11

Nick

I mean, I think people. Yeah, yeah.

20:12

Logan

No, I'm just saying I. We can disagree on the way that she, like, handles that situation, but I'm just saying there are people there. The Christians in the US at least, are a generous people. They are generous in that way. And, and I'm trying to use that word to its full extent. You know, that's generosity. That's Christian generosity to forgive the person who wronged you. And it is a hard concept to understand, but it's because Christians aim to be like Jesus. That's what Jesus did. Jesus forgave the people that put him on the cross, saying they know not what they do. Right. And I don't know. So. But if you have a bunch of people that fundamentally believe in peace, that is a Christian thing. It's been twisted all in all sorts of different ways throughout history, but fundamentally it's about peace.

21:22

Nick

I don't believe that's possible on the other side.

21:25

Logan

Well, it's not. It's. It's really not possible for a lot of people. I'm just saying, as a general concept, that to go by as a guiding light, it's not that bad. You could do worse. You could do much worse, right?

21:42

Nick

Yeah, yeah, yeah, yeah.

21:44

Logan

So I'm not saying it's the right way or whatever. I'm just saying you could do a lot worse. And for people to act like that is. It can be a very powerful thing. And that's why I think it did touch a lot of people, because it is the Generosity that Kirk showed to people that, you know, is--is why he probably had the biggest funeral ever in the U.S. you know, so we can end it there.

Terms

22:12

Nick

Sweet. Let's go to terms. We'll start with ad nauseam, which he explained. It means you said it so many times that you become nauseous or sick from hearing it.

22:21

Logan

Yeah.

22:22

Nick

Next, we have never see the light of day. That means it will never come out. So I wrote a song, but I'm so embarrassed about it. It will never see the light of day. Or, you know, I hope that criminal that shot Charlie Kirk never sees the light of day.

22:39

Logan

Yeah.

22:40

Nick

Next is train of thought. We've never used this one, but it's a good one. It means I forgot my line of thinking. I forgot what I was going to say.

22:49

Logan

Yeah. You're off the train tracks. Your train of thought. Yeah.

22:53

Nick

How about caveat? You could do that one.

22:56

Logan

Is that a French word?

22:57

Nick

Yeah, they're fish eggs.

23:02

Logan

Nice. No, he's not saying caviar. Yeah, caveat. Caveat is like a, but, kind of. But it means more. How do you explain that? It's a--an exception to the rule that you've established, like, I'll let you live at my place for free with the caveat that you do my laundry every week. You know, that's a caveat. There's always a caveat or something. So it's like kind of the--the. An arrangement within the word used when there's an arrangement within something. I don't. I don't. Yeah, but I think that makes sense. Right?

23:45

Nick

All right, what about. Need receipts?

23:48

Logan

Receipts means a receipt. But we say this when. When--

Nick

We want proof.

Logan

Yeah, we're talking about proof. So a receipt is proof that you paid for something. So that's. We were saying we wanted Candace Owens to provide receipts for her accusations. Right. Like, give us the receipts, and then we'll. We'll. We'll go with you. But until then, it's. It's hard to. It's hard to know.

24:16

Nick

Okay, guys, we'll see you again.

24:18

Logan

Oh, goodbye.
