

Spring Events and Happenings

Coming Up On The Horizon

As spring approaches in New York, a variety of exciting events are on the horizon. Here are some notable happenings:

2025 WNBA Draft

On April 14, The Shed in Manhattan's Hudson Yards will host the 2025 WNBA Draft. This event offers fans a chance to witness the selection of top women's basketball talent, including UConn's standout guard, Paige Bueckers. Tickets become available on March 21 through Ticketmaster.

Mountain Jam Festival

Scheduled for June 20-22 at Belleayre Mountain Ski Resort in Highmount, NY, Mountain Jam returns with a diverse lineup featuring Khruangbin, Mt. Joy, JRAD, Trampled by Turtles, and Michael Franti & Spearhead. This festival promises a blend of rock, indie, and folk music set against the scenic Catskill Mountains.

Governors Ball Music Festival

From June 6-8, Flushing Meadows-Corona Park in Queens will host the Governors Ball Music Festival. Headliners include Tyler, the Creator, Olivia Rodrigo, and Hozier, with additional performances by Glass Animals, Conan Gray, and Clairo. The festival offers a mix of genres, ensuring a dynamic musical experience.

Butterflies in Bloom at Dow Gardens

Running through April 13, with extended hours from April 15-20, this interactive exhibit features thousands of butterflies from around the world. Visitors can enjoy the vibrant display daily from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., with extended hours during the final week.

NFL Draft

The 2025 NFL Draft is scheduled for April 24–26, 2025, at Lambeau Field in Green Bay, Wisconsin. The Tennessee Titans hold the first overall pick, having finished the 2024 season with the league's worst record.

These events highlight the vibrant cultural and recreational offerings in New York this spring, catering to a wide range of interests and ensuring memorable experiences for all attendees.
