

4th International Conference of the Department of English Language and Literature

English Studies at the Interface of Disciplines: Research and Practice (ESIDRP)

April 4-5th, 2025

Blaže Koneski Faculty of Philology
Ss. Cyril and Methodius University, Skopje, North Macedonia

Poster Proposal Form (printed)

Name and surname (for each presenter if more than one) Affiliation (institution and department)
Status (e.g. MA/PhD student, teacher, professor, etc.)
Email
Field of presentation (e.g. general or applied linguistics, teaching ESL/EFL, translation, literature, interdisciplinary, other)
Poster presentation title Abstract (up to 150 words) Keywords (up to 5 keywords)
Short bio blurb (up to 50 words)
Technical support (if needed) (e.g. laptop, LCD projector, internet access, loud speakers, microphone, etc.)

Guidelines for poster contributors

Printed posters may address any area relevant to the conference (cf. Call for Proposals). The poster should contain the following content:

- topic title;
- author(s) and affiliation(s);
- motivation for the study;

- research questions and hypothesis;
- relevant previous research on the topic;
- research methodology details (e.g. student survey, interviews, data check);
- key findings and to what extent they confirmed the main idea(s);
- conclusions and recommendations.

The purpose of the poster is to communicate the key points of a study in a way that is accessible, interesting and appealing to a range of attendees. The use of visual design elements can generate interest and communicate information effectively. Contributors are advised to organise their content carefully and avoid inserting too much information.

Contributors can work individually or in pairs to produce a poster. Poster presenters will be timetabled to interact with the audience at a specific time during the conference. Poster presenters may submit a paper based on their poster presentation for consideration of publication in the ESIDRP conference proceedings.

Please fill in the Poster Proposal Form and send it to: esidrp2025@flf.ukim.edu.mk

We look forward to receiving your proposal!