

Dear [Name of your friend],

Today is a very special day as it is your birthday and I want to send this letter along with many hugs and kisses. I always wish you the best in the world, may you succeed in everything you do in your life.

It has been so long ago that you're not here with us but I want you to know that despite the great distance between us, I love you as I always did. I really miss the moments we spent together, our talks, and everything we did together, but I know you made the right decision when you went to look for a better opportunity abroad.

One thing that always amazes me is your wholehearted form of giving. Whenever I need something, you never hesitate to offer even more. And when I need your shoulder to cry on, you never hesitate to snap me back into reality and tell me to stay strong. You give me so much love, care, and strength and you've taught me to make this my lifestyle.

Everywhere you go, you light up everyone's life. You are thoughtful and compassionate, and your positive vibes are nothing but extremely happy.

Have a very happy day and have lots of fun. I love you and miss you so much, my friend.

Yours Loving,

[Your Name],
