

gauravjain wrote...

nVidia ??

balakrishna wrote...

For all your enthu, you'll definitely do great things. But, stop being so critical of yourself :). And thanks for everything, I don't know how I would have managed the Honours project without you.

nikhil wrote...

Bama dude ure a stud and realise that. Nice guy who is studying perennially.

ranjitha wrote...

Hey mava! Asalu kanipinchadam ledu enti?

This guy is one of the most hard working guys ever. Sometime during the second year I was suffering from insomnia. So I used to go to the lab in the morning out of boredom. He used be the only other person awake at that hour, the only difference being that he used work while I watched movies. I remember dreaming of becoming as dedicated and hard working as him. You are okha mava! All the best.

shiben wrote...

Dude! I never knew thats ur full name, its quite short seriously! Neway, so bama happens 2 b a fellow CVITian, which implies he is a hard working person. Apart from that he is helpful in academics, i rmr the days of PR when he is not able 2 finish his own revision but still did he tot a dumb all the things (that dumb was me). He sleeps a lot i guess, in contrast he is quite energetic. Nice knowing u and gud luck :)

sumanth wrote...

He keeps his status message as "I must be sleeping or dreaming or sleeping and dreaming" .. something like that and in reality would probably be reading or coding something. There are also rumours that he switches off the light and just studies using a torch light so that people wudnt notice.. Cant cheat people for long bama.

Jokes apart, do u want to know the courses that he took in one sem? Pattern Recognition, Digital Image Processing, Honors Project (jaws), Middleware, Economics, Compilers, POPL and some other course. I seriously dont understand how is able to cope up with all that pressure and work. When we got the i-lan (illegal lan), he refused it cos he thought that would distract him and I've seen him work his ass off that sem, (he was my neighbour). Hard work and dedication would be somethings that you would sure associate with him. Now he has cooled down a bit, probably as they say its always calm before a storm.. I'll be always looking for nvidia updates for something special that you would come up with.

Hes my best project mate and I've done projects with lots of kewwll people. Really understanding and fun to be with. Best of luck mava :)..

P.s : He has started jogging daily so that he can "stay" trim and slim :P ... All gurls in nvidia get ready to rock n roll rakeshplal wrote...

Nobody Known by Everybody

he was the guy who wanted to leave the college and join some local college fearing abt his potential and college load ...

but u know what .. he is one among the guys who had done the max credits in our batch .. a very very hard working guy .. very friendly too .. ready to help u netime ...will sit en work with u if he doesnt know what u are asking him ...

he is so kind that he along with balanagireddy took a project with me , merely to improve my cgpa ..

i rmb him sleeping against the walls in the bathroom :)) .. dont ask me when where and why :)

thanx a ton maama netime ready to help u :)

niraj wrote...

I remember mostly of the time when we used to be in GH (3rd Floor), he is the person who used to be in IIIT campus during the first year summer vaction and, do u know what he used to do? Ofcourse like all other IIITians, the gaming mantra. He used to come to IIIT fequently along with Bala to play games in lab during that time. He was the only person along with me staying during the summer vaction. This guy enjoys playing games in IIIT more than being at home. But later when he moved to second year he was changed and became almost invisible to me. he is helping and concerned specially when u r in need. yeah, i do remember the time when i missed my train, i had a prior appointment there in Patna and that time was really very very imp for me, and no one was there to console me except him. all my belongings were with Rahul who was fortunate enough to catch the train. i didn;t have clothes and was left only with the jeans and shirts which i was wearing that day. Thanx jaar! All the best...

simeen wrote...

Have always considered you among the nicest guys of our class :) Wishing you the very best in life :)

riyaaz wrote...

one of the first very few friends I had. brilliant techie. Always ready to help me in techie stuff be it teaching linux installation or playing AOE:) or Latex etc. Very hardworking and persistent. Now I feel a bit guilty to mean business most of the time ,mostly coming to your room when I had trouble with something. Two reasons for this, one me being bad conversationalist and the other was afraid i would waste your time and delay your relentless struggle for excellence:). One of the many things i admire most about you is giving your best till the end in anything you do and willingness to know about new things in diverse fields. Thanks for everything. stay in touch always!!!

ruchir k wrote...

One of the most hard working guys of our batch...extremely good at whatever he does ..hey balma ..guess which is why you should expand your horizons and explore more sumeet wrote...

You need not worry about my mood before talking to me in future ...

rastogi wrote...

Bama is among my favorite people in IIIT - I feel sad that we no longer hang around as much as we used to in third year. Very very helpful. Gets highly excited and tense before exams even if he knows that he has studied more than anybody else. An awesome gamer (remember that Quake challenge?). I feel he has a slight inferiority complex. Dude, chill! I seriously believe that you have it in you to do whatever you set out to. Just aim high and focus.

amit_kumar wrote...

very hardworking and straight forward guy...before the exams u can find him sincerely studying...I appreciate his decision to go into computer vision stream which really requires a lot of hardwork and dedication to be successful...BEST of luck man...do well in nvidia...keep in touch vivek kt wrote...

Bama, as we love to address him as, is a legend in himself. I remember him whining very often about how age ruined his CG in first year. And did he pull himself up to the elite list of intellectuals. Hell Yes!! He did and he did it in style. I love the way he talks, make u want to listen to him. Interesting fellow, might not be much of an ager but that doesn't take bit of a charm away from this guy, Hardworking fellow, very decent and nice person to talk to, straight forward and cool and now he I all set to rock nVidia. Best of luck dude.

rumeet wrote...

Down to earth

I remember him mocking himself in the first year that he doesn't study. But eventually has come up with a dream offer and a research paper, gr8 going man. Hope to see gr8 research out of you.

Also my wing mate for 2 months.

ankit_ag wrote...

one of da most dedicated man arnd, he generally takes da toughest set of courses nd excel in all of them, real gem of a person, brilliant nd intelligent r da only words best suited to describe him. A brilliant gamer, again this shows da he excel in watever u do... nd bama yer a GOD in age for us KIDS .. i'll surely come to pick a tip or two frm ya .. best of luck for yer future buddy gaurav_k wrote...

The real Kassi mama of our batch. I dont know wat happened to him after 1st year. It was a sudden change from a easy go lucky bama to one who became intensely focussed on technical stuff.

Mama wat was tat spark, i still cant figure tat out. I wish i cud get tat spark too. But im happy tat u got it coz since then onwards whenever i had a technical problem :) it was always bama whom i approached to ask for ne help n he happily sat with me n sorted out all my problems.

One quality which i really admire abt him is his willingness to learn, he is always eager to learn nething not just abt tech.

The tech part apart he is a very gud person at heart. He tries to take the entire grp along all the time. He is always enthusiastic abt organising trips n cricket matches n takes upon himself to do all the organisational work. Im really thankful to him as he kept sending me all those trip mails even though i dint go for the trips, it felt nice dude. Wen is d next trip dude, i def wont miss it this time arnd.

ur hardwork coupled with ur tech talent will take u places. All d best.

yash utmani wrote...

Hardworking student, Great age player, awesome techie.

What more can you ask from a person .

Hope you have a great life !!!

srivastava wrote...

Nice cheeful guy...Always discussing smthing technical either vision related or some game strategy....Always seems to be in a hurry....

madhusudhanan wrote...

One of the hard working guys in our batch .. still rmr the courses which he took in a sem and even now dont know how he coped with it ... we had gr8 fun cramming our heads for economics course , and even in that class .. wuld never forget the time when tsumani asked the prof to stop teaching right during class hours ,since the syllabus was already too large and how others supported him ... a very good and quick and enthusiastic learner .. and whats gr8 abt this guy is that he also plays games pretty often ..

a funny guy with a witty sense of humour and wuld always rmr him for that .. duude wish u good luck for ur future and plzzz keep in touch ..

nayaktarun wrote...

So here I write abt our own Bama ...

I like him for his really nice attitude towards everything. Will always cherish his company and lil time we've been together.

A hardworking guy with a gr8 aptitude for games. Been in the same clan for CS tourney. Got to learn many things frm him. He is a gr8 Age player too ..cant comment on tht coz I hate Age

Will surely do wonders in vision and will reach gr8 heights ..All the best mava ...b in touch akansh wrote...

Balmanohar's been a really nice guy all through. Never ever have I found him making mockery of others around and in that sense is a humble kinda a person. It wouldn't be bad to say that he's humble and down-to-earth kinda person. He's been a friend and greets and meets in a really nice way. He's got this amazing smile on his face whenever I find him around.

On other note, he's really really hard-working. I've seen him working his ass off for the projects that he took over, for those tough courses that he took in the field of vision. It's not easy to work under CVIT profs and I've seen that myself. The best thing about him is that he's managed his time well so as to work and play as well.. THough m not into gaming, I've heard about he being a great player at computer games. For that he gets lots of points on his aptitude in general.

You've landed up into a really nice place dood (Nvidia). Work hard and you'll do wonders.

visram wrote...

Bama is very enthusiastic and cheerful. Was my wing mate for two years. Great fun to be with. Extremely hardworking. Used to spend sleepless nights before exams and was also my standard alarm clock for quite some time. Thanks for being a great friend man. Expect great things from you. do keep in touch.

ashish lohia wrote...

Thanks a lot for helping me out for the DIP project man ... You will do great in Nvidia ... All the best !!!

prashant j wrote...

VERY hardworking. his yahoo status sez he sleeps all the time, but actually he is probably slogging over jaws's project. i really admire his dedication to his work and hope i will b inspired by him to stop sleeping all morning.

though bama is very serious abt acads, he is also a good gamer. after our boar, he is the best ager in our batch.

one piece of advice 4 u... plz do stop degrading urself so much... u r gr8 da... don't b so harsh on urself himanshu_arora wrote...

Nice and decent person to talk to. We were good friends right from the first year. Hard working, enthusiastic and helpful guy. Best of luck for your future. Be in touch.

nipunsareen wrote...

One of the hardest working people in IIIT. Believes in giving his 110% in everything that he does. Fellow TA for ITWS-1A...while I slept through the tutorial classes in the morning, this guy was always there, on time, and made sure the course got conducted to the T.

Good Luck for the future. It's so bright it's almost blinding suryakant wrote...

Bammmaa ...!!

Thnks for the helping hand when I was down at Rock Heights :D

our frndship is like a exponential func from first sem to date.....

stay in touch man

balmanohar wrote...

Called Nobody by everybody. Doesnt know what he is doing and also what he will be doing. Has not yet found out the answer to life. Always troubled and haunted by his pessimism. Tried to convince him many times but never listened to me. Aim high and focus and always remind urself with the phrase "Laser Beam Focus" aswin wrote...

A really cool guy who for some reason always underestimates his performance in his exams and stuff.

Had loads of fun with U. Silent for a month and then something drastic like a really nice fool's day prank.

I sitll think that the man mail for the batch was frm U ;).

manik wrote...

bama..manu is jst a nick he gav himself..no 1 evr uses it!!
he's a really cool nd fun guy to hang out with..the best part of the time i spent with him was whn he keeps saying i am god nd i keep disproving it!! i rem many times i've told him DIP dengipeyindi..i also rem. the fun time bama,booty nd me had studying DIP together..
gud thing he gt a vision job..dnt wrry bout the pay too much d00d..it'll inc. within 6mnths..nd rem to keep in touch.. ooh..almost forget..awesome ager..learnt all the age i knw frm him..also usd to spend lots of nights in second yr watching recorded games..thx for all the education :)

ramachandra wrote...

Bama .. a well known prankster (remember the algos mail?) Anything planned for today i.e april 1?
Always instrumental in getting the gang to get up and do something ... be it the trip to Dhola-ri-dhani, cricket matches or even the yahoo group. Also technical stuff lo okaa .. always looking forward to ur 'forwards' mavaa.

ps: can u send us free graphics cards frm NVidia ??

sudhanshu wrote...

He calls himself Nobody, and it seems like a pretty cool name to me. One person who shares my enthusiasm to solve puzzles and riddles of all kinds. A great friend, and one in whose company you'll never get bored. I remember, in the summer hols after the first year, akshay taught this guy AOC, and in two months, he was the one of the undisputed champions of age of our batch, along with boar and sumanth. This itself speaks volumes about his abilities, and his ability to surpass and excel beyond the ordinary. Have fun, and enjoy life.

srujan wrote...

A friend right from day 1 in IIIT. Always enjoyed your company.. His thirst for knowledge never dies.. explored many simple things together which I could never forget.

One of the guys who tried to make fool everyone in the batch making use of his tech skills .. Our batch could never forget his algo's mail akshay wrote...

A guy who is full of energy when it comes to doing things he enjoys. These include playing age, in which he is among the best in our batch. Hope you have fun in nVidia. Best of luck and keep in touch!

nitish_g wrote...

Brama

We got the job together .. yay . He has been the source of inspiration for me. Always I used to console myself that brama is one of the guys who has taken more difficult courses than you did :)). Always hardworking and he was the one who taught me age. Thanks for that dude.

I think he is one of the coolest guys , always helping and asking for CSI ... Sorry man I stopped downloading that

Hope to keep in touch... bye abhay_kumar wrote...

most hardworking guy in our batch..not only in acads but watever thing he takes into his hands.. very good age player..though he does not play with us(dont know y) :) best of luck bama..have fun n keep in touch..

siddharth wrote...

BaMa...cool guy this...a geek of sorts.

Man do u rmr the cgpa list we sent out..and that spcl mail..which created quite a flutter !!!...it was pure fun dood!!!

We did hang out quite a bit in the first year ...and last year.

Dood u have all the abilities to be successful in whatever u choose to be and do !!!!

pooja wrote...

The first guy i met,after coming to IIIT.A friendly, intelligent and hard-working person.. May Life offers you its best:).. Best Of Luck :)...

ayan kumar wrote...

havent spoken to him often...bt the guy comes off as a cool customer be it sports or acads...o n i do rmr the blanket u spared 4 me..thanx a lot fr that...best of luck n keep in touch rahul_s wrote...

had some real nice time wid him in the 1st yr. he was nt that studious then;).....so it was BC most of the time. Hope u njoy in pune. wish u all the best arvkrishna wrote...

bama... the most dedicated guy i've ever seen. Never gets satisfied & complacent with anything (I gotta learn a lot from u if I plan for a PhD). A good programmer, curious to know many things, parallel processor, humble, cheerful.. and a very good friend.

mava, I am sure u'll shine wherever u go ! But one small suggestion, do know wat u want the most (I suggest a PhD in comp. vision) & channelise all ur energies towards it, U'LL ROCK MORE !!

anildutt wrote...

one interesting guy..

i've rarely talked to him in first two years. but then fortunatly met him and could make him my fren.

great passion towards the work he chooses.. is how i strongly believe abt him. i feel sorry that, i couldnt do a singly project with him :).

Hurt "nobody" (in both the meanings), describes manohar. i have been a fan of his hard working nature. he is one hell of a guy who always keeps himself busy doing sth useful. (however, the bad thing abt this guy is he keeps thinking that he is the one who wastes the time most. of course, in one way it helps him). i wish, some time in my life i take as much pleasure as he takes in the work chosen.

lemme tell u, may be some of u dont know.. he is a great philosopher. No wonder if sbd reads his name in the list of top 10 philosophers. just try hacking his pc and read thru his one liners....(of course u need some time, as there r many, i mean MANY).

mavaa with the commitment and brains u have got, u definately achieve what u want. (but i know that, u then change ur aim to sth more.. ;), so in my words u always succeed, n in ur words, u never giveup trying for success.)

u need no luck. u deserve ne thing u want... all the best mams.

pushkar wrote...

Had achieved and improved a lot in the last 3 years with his hard and sincere work. Best of Luck for your future man.

keerthi kiran wrote...

never ever can one dream of such a good project partner. his dedication levels are always high and is always craving for that little bit of extra knowledge that he can mine. can never forget those days when sumanth, bala, me and manohar played age in seniors lab. ppl say he is hardworking but he has loads and loads of fun (be it playing computer-games or bc or movies) along with the acads. i don't think i can forget all those good days in NBH and GH (i still remember the day when u said u will leave the institute to jntu or some other college. hope u feel how foolish that would be). i guess u remember our april-fool pranks (especially the one with algo marks). these few words can never describe this animal. thanks ra, thanks for all ur friendship, all the great moments. all the best, i know u have a long way to go.

gyan wrote...

BAMA ... isn't that what they call you! He always sports a BIG grin when it comes to saying a HI and yes I see him around when India play ... Good to know you ... keep in touch :)

rajeshkumar wrote...

bama -- A hardworking guy and always tries to do his best in his field ..
He got in nvidia and is very sure that he'll make great things happen there..

Wish you luck for ur future ...

aditi wrote...

...plz dont call me female santosh rey anna

Best of Luck and Stay in touch chaitanya j wrote...

he was my wing mate in first year and used to do lot of BC with him, quite hardworking guy n intelligent too...

all the best r future n stay in touch srujan wrote...

Ever onward ... the motto of XLRI if suited for someone, it would be Balamanochar. He is never satisfied with what he has achieved. Of course he does not carry his feeling into a state of frustration. Very happy for the achievements of his friends.

But the most striking attitude of Bama is his curiosity to know and learn new things. He will ask all the right questions, browse all the right sites but know what is to be known. Its amazing the way he gets motivated from everyone. Never hate, ever learn.

I am sure this attitude will carry him to high places. It was nice knowing you, hope to see you as a high flying researcher somewhere.

